Northwestern's Austin Schlies scored four touchdowns and ran for 139 yards to lead the Tigers to a 47-14 win over Mauston in Level 1 of the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic Association playoffs Friday, Oct. 22, in Maple.

Schlies scored two touchdowns in the first quarter, then bobbled and caught a pass late in the second quarter for a 37-yard score, but it was his final touchdown that was most significant.

Schlies took the hand-off from quarterback Luke Sedin and busted through the line of scrimmage for a 33-yard score that also took him over 1,000 yards for the season.

"Austin had some big runs, he's been getting better and better every week," Tigers coach Jovin Kroll said. "He's a running back that improves as the game goes on with the more touches he gets ... it was just a great night for him."

The night started on a sour note for Mauston when quarterback Spenser Lehman dropped back to pass on the Golden Eagles' third play from scrimmage and was picked off by Jace Nelson and returned for a touchdown to make it 7-0.

"I rolled down in the box because I watched a bunch of film and I saw they don't go deep much," Nelson said. "I was watching this out route and I knew what was coming. Once he threw it, I took it to the house."

The night quickly went from bad to worse for Mauston after Schlies struck twice more in the first quarter. Wyatt Dumonson and C.J. Thompson each added touchdowns in the second quarter to give Northwestern a 40-0 halftime lead.

The entire second half was played in running time and the Northwestern starters left the game after Schlies'

McMeekin switches training regimen ahead of state meet

Superior's Tayler McMeekin has had quite the season so far.

The Spartan freshman surprised everyone when she burst onto the cross-country scene, winning the Lake Superior Conference race nearly 47 seconds ahead of second-place finisher Della Bettendorf of Proctor.

McMeekin didn't win the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic Association Division 1 Sectional Championships Saturday, Oct. 23, in West Salem, but she did finish sixth overall and set a new personal record of 19:11.9 in her 5K time.

With the run, McMeekin became the first Spartan to qualify for the state meet since Leah Holmes in 2012.

While McMeekin has continued to compete with some of the best runners in Wisconsin, the wear and tear on her knees has started to catch up with her, and coach Lee Sims put her on a regime of pool workouts instead of running daily.

Superior's Tayler McMeekin (566) builds up her lead on the first lap of the Dan Conway Classic on Sept. 9 at Nemadji Golf Course in Superior. McMeekin will represent the Spartans at the WIAA Division 1 state meet Saturday, Oct. 30, in Wisconsin Rapids.

"We tried a couple of speed workouts and it just wasn't working," Sims said. "We knew that if we wanted her to have a healthy race and have the race that we thought she could, we needed to switch our game plan. So we started doing a few more pool workouts that still get that aerobic piece, but not the impact on her legs. At sections, it sounds like her knees definitely didn't hold her back."

One thing will be for sure when she starts the Division 1 race at 2:25 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 30, at Ridges Golf Course in Wisconsin Rapids: McMeekin won't be hard to pick out of the crowd. At the beginning of the season, she picked out a pair of hot pink shoes to race in this fall.

"I found them at Tortoise & Hare (in Duluth) and there was a whole bunch to choose from, but when I saw the hot pink ones, I really wanted them," McMeekin said. "My mom was there and she was like, 'Well, at least we'll be able to
