Provider hoping for $9M grant for first phases of broadband project

By PAT MULVANEY
Contributing Writer

Monroe County moved one tentative step last Wednesday toward its plan to provide high-speed internet throughout the county.

The Monroe County board voted to enter into a public-private agreement with Vernon Communications Cooperative in order to apply for up to $9 million in grant money through the Public Service Commission of Wisconsin (PSC).

Supervisors Ron Luethe and Jen Schmitz, who are co-chairs of the county's broadband committee, gave a presentation to the board last Wednesday, outlining the plan to bring high-speed internet, also known as broadband, to underserved parts of the county.

The two ways to get broadband are through either satellite transmission or fiber optic lines. The county is focusing on fiber optics because it is the most reliable and easiest to upgrade.

While the county is working with four separate broadband providers, Vernon Communication Cooperative is the only one that provided a comprehensive monetary plan by the Dec. 1 deadline to apply for the PSC grant. While other providers were interested, they couldn't come up with cost figures, according to Luethe.

Vernon is working on a multiphase plan to install fiber optic cable through much of the southern part of the county. If it is awarded the grant, it will use the money to fund the first two phases of the project.

Phase one entails laying broadband infrastructure in the towns of Portland and Leon and the Town of Sparta south of Interstate 90. Phase 2 would expand the infrastructure to the towns of Jefferson and Wells.

The phase 1 grant would be for $4.4 million and would fund 70% of the project with the remaining funding coming from Vernon Communications and Monroe County, each contributing $947,000. The phase two grant would be for $4.6 million, with the provider and county kicking in 15% apiece.

On Wednesday, the county board agreed to earmark $1.7 million of its $9 million in American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA) funds for broadband infrastructure, which will go toward its match on the project if Vernon Communications receives the grant.

Sunday morning single vehicle crash reports one fatality

On Sunday at approximately 10:40 am Sparta Police were called to Wisconsin St (State Highway 16) and Aspen Blvd for a reported single vehicle injury accident. Arriving officers located the vehicle on fire and witnesses removing two individuals from the vehicle. A 67-year-old female died at the scene. A 67-year-old male was transported to Gundersen in La Crosse by GundersenAIR with life-threatening injuries. During the crash, a fire hydrant was sheared off and ended up inside a nearby unoccupied building. The crash remains under investigation by the Sparta Police Department and Wisconsin State Patrol Technical Reconstruction Unit. The road remained closed for approximately 4 hours. Sparta Police Department was assisted by the Monroe County Sheriff's Office, Sparta Ambulance, Sparta Fire, Sparta Public Works, Monroe County Medical Examiner's office, Monroe County Communication Center, Monroe County District Attorney's Office, and GundersenAIR. There was no update on the male at press time.

Progress on the new county nursing home is well underway, but not without some hiccups.

The estimated $21.1 million dollar facility is on track to meet its owner occupancy date of August 1st of this year, but it has had its fair share of supply chain issues causing some minor delays. Most notably, the permanent heating.

"They can't start the flooring until the permanent heating is installed," said Toni Wissestad, a County Board Supervisor and Chairman of the Rolling Hills Committee.

The $2.43 million dollar HVAC system is funded by the American Recovery Plan Fund (ARPA). Expected delivery is sometime next week.

Delays aside, the progress that has been made is substantial. Over 600 windows have been installed, which is something that Rolling Hills Administrator Linda Smith is very adamant about.

"Fresh air flow is important to creating a healthy environment," said Smith. "We learned from COVID that fresh air should not be taken for granted. Across the street [in the old facility], there are many windows that do not open."

So far, less than 50 change orders have been submitted by contractors due to minor omissions and value-adding options. The project was designed by Community Living Solutions of Appleton and construction is being managed by Krause-Anderson from Madison.

Local businesses from Sparta have had their bids approved. WESCO Home Furnishings was awarded the furniture and appliance portion. Pica Grove received a portion for signage, as well.

“We try to keep the work local. However, we’re under contract to accept the lowest bidder except when red flags pop-up. We’re so fortunate to have local businesses that can provide us with quality service and craftsmanship,” said Wissestad.
