Stevens Point's Roisin Willis set the national high school indoor record in the 800 back in February with a time of 2 minutes, 0.06 seconds. On Saturday, she'll set her sights on the national outdoor mark of 1:59.51 set by Mary Cain of Bronxville, New York, in 2013. Willis' state-qualifying time was 2:03.09.

"It's not often that you get a chance to finish second in something and be happy about it, but that's exactly where Rylee is at Not only will Coleman have right now," Craig girls coach a chance to finish second in the Brandon Miles said. "She got second at state last year in the year, but she may also be a part event, and with the girl that won high school outdoor record is have a good chance to maybe win it this year."

But Willis didn't run at state last year because she was competing at the United States Olympic Trials.

"Rylee still has a chance to set a new school record in the event, and to say you finished second in a race to the national recordholder would be pretty special."

Janesville Sports Hall of Fame inductee Jody Rittenhouse holds the Craig school record in the 800 at 2:11.4. Coleman's best time in the event is 2:12.25.

Craig's Jessa Alderman also hopes to find the podium. The senior is seeded fifth in both shot put and discus. The top six pitched six solid innings and scored a pivotal run in the fifth inning to lead Milton to a 4-3 victory over Waukesha North in a WIAA Division 1 regional championship game.

Top-seeded Milton (20-6) earned a spot in the Oregon sectional and will meet fifth-seeded Wales Kettle Moraine (13-10) in a sectional semifinal at 10 a.m. Tuesday at Oregon High School.

A victory would send the Red Hawks into the sectional final at 4 p.m. against Oconomowoc (21-5) or Mukwonago (12-14).

Campion was lights out for six innings before tiring in the seventh. He struck out six and allowed only two earned runs. Michael Birkhimer came on to pick up the save by recording the final three outs.

'Obviously it's playoff time," Campion said. "My coaches trust me on the mound, and I know the players behind me trust me just Milton's Sophie Mesera completes a game-saving double play in the sixth inning of Milton's WIAA Division 1 sectional semifinal against Burlington at Oregon on Thursday. In a controversial call, the umpires ruled Mesera tagged out baserunner McKenzie Plitzuweit and then threw to second for a force out. Milton earned a state tournament berth with a 1-0 victory in eight innings.

Boston sinks nine 3-pointers in fourth to knock off Warriors

Teams that opt to attack the Golden State Warriors with longrange shooting usually pay a costly price for their decision. But the Boston Celtics beat ter.

the Warriors at their own game Thursday night, nailing nine 3-point baskets during the most lopsided fourth quarter in NBA Finals history to flip the script on the Warriors on Thursday night. As a result, Boston took a 120-108 victory in Game 1 of the bestof-seven NBA Finals.

The Celtics outscored Golden State by 24 points in the fourth quarter-40 to 16-after trailing by 15 points late in the first quar-

GAME TWO

Who: Boston Celtics at Golden State Warriors. What: Game 2, NBA Finals. When: 7 p.m. Sunday. Where: Chase Center, San Francisco. TV: ABC.

Boston's Jaylen Brown fueled the comeback charge and scored 3-pointers for the Celtics on his way to a 26-point performance in the first NBA Finals game of his long career.

Boston made its first seven tries from long distance in the fourth and wound up 9 of 12 beyond the arc in the quarter, getting almost everybody involved in the 3-point flurry. Jayson Tatum was the lone Celtics regular who struggled offensively, finishing 3 for 17 and mak-24 points and Al Horford hit six ing only one of five 3-point tries.

The Warriors' Stephen Curry sank six 3-pointers in the first quarter alone and totaled 34 points in his return to the NBA's big stage for the first time in three years. But his team couldn't sustain momentum after a 38-point third quarter that put them ahead 92-80 going into the fourth.

Game 2 in the best-of-seven series is set for Sunday night, back at Chase Center.

It's McCutchen for the clutch win

Walk-off RBI single caps four-run ninth to beat San Diego

Associated Press

MILWAUKEE

Welcome home, Milwaukee Brewers.

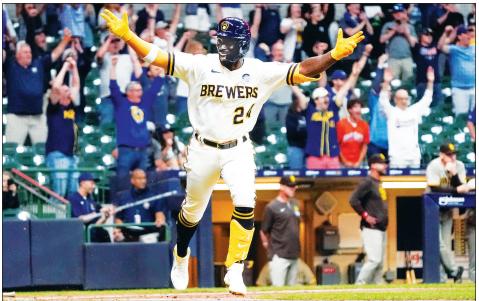

On the verge of matching a season low with their third consecutive loss, the Brewers instead found a way to win a thriller Thursday night.

In the bottom of the ninth inning, Jace Peterson tied the game with a bases-clearing triple and then Andrew McCutchen-who was 0 for his previous 32 at-bats-lined a walk-off single up the middle to put the finishing touches on a 5-4 victory over the San Diego Padres at American Family Field.

Jorge Alfaro's two-run homer in the sixth off Brent Suter gave the Padres a 3-1 lead. Sergio Alcántara made it 4-1 with a sacrifice fly in the eighth.

The Brewers, playing in quicksand for most of the game, quickly made things interesting in the ninth against Taylor Rogers (0-3). Keston Hiura greeted the Padres closer with a single, and then Rogers hit both Kolten Wong and Victor Caratini with pitches to load the bases.

Peterson responded with a drive to right-center that fell just short of going out for a walk-off grand slam but nevertheless tied the game and sent Rogers—one of the best closers

Padres manager Bob Melvin called on Nabil Crismatt to face McCutchen, who snapped an 0-for-32 skid with a base hit back up the middle against a drawn-in infield to win it.

McCutchen celebrated by collapsing on his back in jubilation in the aftermath as his teammates mobbed showers without recording his major league debut. He struck out three.

> The late four-run comeback wiped out what had been a pitchers' duel early. San Diego starter Sean Manaea struck out eight over six innings, and Milwaukee's Adrian Houser had five strikeouts and also allowed just one run over five innings.

> Eric Hosmer hit an RBI double in the fifth for the Padres, McCutchen tied it

J.J. Watt and his wife are expecting

The Watt family is growing: Pewaukee native and former Wisconsin Badgers football star J.J. Watt and his wife, Kealia Ohai Watt, announced Thursday that they are expecting their first child.

J.J., who is entering his 12th NFL season this fall, posted on his Instagram and Twitter accounts that he 'could not be more excited."

The posts were accompanied by four pregnancy photos of the couple. The caption of Kealia's Instagram post, which featured two pregnancy photos, provided the estimated due date: "Oct 2022."

J.J. and Kealia were married in February 2020 in a private ceremony in the Bahamas.

J.J.'s younger brothers now can fight over who will be the favorite uncle—a tongue-in-cheek battle J.J. and T.J. always engaged in on social media for Derek's two young boys, Logan, 3, and Brayden, 1.

J.J. Watt, 33, is entering his second season with the Arizona Cardinals after spending 10 years with the Houston Texans where he racked up three NFL defensive player of the year awards.

Kealia, 30, is a professional soccer player with the Chicago Red Stars.

T.J. Watt, Rhodes engaged—T.J. Watt, the youngest Watt and reigning NFL defensive player of the year for the Pittsburgh Steelers, announced his engagement to Dani Rhodes, a former Wisconsin Badgers soccer star.

Packers schedule two open practices

GREEN BAY—The Green Bay Packers have set the starting times for their three mandatory minicamp practices next week, and two of them will be open to

The team will practice starting at 11:45 a.m. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at Ray Nitschke Field. The Tuesday and Wednesday sessions will be open to the public. Admission is free.

The Thursday practice will be closed, as will be the team's final three organized team activities (OTA) sessions the week of June 13.

Packers quarterback Aaron Rodgers, who has been sitting out the voluntary portion of the offseason program, is expected to be on hand for the mandatory

Cousins learns Vikings' new offense

MINNEAPOLIS—The new Minnesota Vikings regime kept much of the roster core intact this season, largely relying on a fresh environment and shift in strategy to yield a contending team.

For all the experience that exists on both sides of the ball, there has been a remarkable amount of re-learning taking place this spring during the rollout of the new schemes under first-time head coach Kevin O'Connell and his staff.

Quarterback Kirk Cousins has found an old-fashioned exercise particularly helpful in the head-spinning process of immersing himself in O'Connell's offense.

"It's been a lot of time on flash cards. Just trying to memorize plays and terms and formations and protections and just the rules around all those things so it becomes instinctual," Cousins said. "You feel like an eighth-grader studying for a quiz in school the next day, the way you go home each night and study, but that is really what it does take to come out here on the practice field and be able to just play instinctually."

Padres cut Canó, who picks free agency

MILWAUKEE-Robinson Canó's short stint with the San Diego Padres is over.

Less than a month after signing him, the Padres parted ways with the veteran slugger, who elected to become a free agent Thursday when he declined an assignment to Triple-A El Paso.

San Diego had hoped the 39-year-old Canó would provide some much-needed offense against righthanded pitching but he batted just .091 (3 for 33) without an extra-base hit in 12 games. He struck out 10 times and had one RBI for the Padres after getting released by the New York Mets last month.

Canó was replaced on San Diego's active roster by outfielder Nomar Mazara, a former top prospect and productive hitter for Texas who had bounced around with three organizations the past three years. He was putting up big numbers at El Paso this season, hitting .367 with seven homers, 27 RBIs and a 1.095 OPS.

Hendrick to run in Xfinity Series

MADISON, Ill.-Hendrick Motorsports will return to the Xfinity Series for the first time in more than a decade when it fields cars later this year at Road America in Elkhart Lake, the road course at Indianapolis Motor Speedway and Watkins Glen.

The team said Thursday that defending Cup Series champion Kyle Larson will drive the No. 17 car July 2 at Road America. Alex Bowman will take the wheel July 30 in Indianapolis and William Byron on Aug. 20 at Watkins Glen. The idea is to give the three Cup regulars, who have 17 combined Xfinity wins, more experience on road courses.

"Our drivers are always looking for more opportunities to compete," Hendrick Motorsports president Jeff Andrews said. "We believe the additional roadcourse experience on Saturdays will translate well to

The last time Hendrick Motorsports entered a lower-tier Xfinity race was Feb. 14, 2009, when Tony Stewart drove to the win at Daytona in what was then the Nationwide Series. Stewart finished eighth the following day in the Daytona 500.

Bucks to note gun violence today

MILWAUKEE-The Milwaukee Bucks will be doing its part to recognize National Gun Violence Awareness Day today.

A Bucks spokesperson said the team's social media presence "will completely turn its attention throughout the day to gun violence and the devastation it continues to cause in the U.S."

The Bucks plan to post facts throughout the day about gun violence.

Badger's Alberts, Buntrock win

Pair advances to second round at state tennis

MADISON

Area players had mixed results on the first day of the WIAA boys state individual tennis tournament at the Nielsen Tennis Stadium.

In Division 1 doubles, Lake Geneva Badger's Marco Alberts and Nate Buntrock won their opening-round match 6-4, 1-6, 10-4 over Ryan Arthur and Sam Penfield of Hudson.

Alberts and Buntrock, now 19-4 on the season, are scheduled to meet Henry Werner and Satchel Moss of Neenah, who are 26-1 and seeded 11th, this morning at 9 a.m.

In Division 1 singles play, Walworth Big Foot's Logan Longhenry went 1-1 to close out a 20-6 season. The freshman took a 6-0, 6-1 victory over Ryan Paulman of Marshfield (12-8) in the first round, but then lost a 6-2, 6-0 decision to 12th-seeded Chase Lindwall of Monona Grove (23-3) in the second round.

Baseball

Westosha Central 5, Lake Geneva Badger 4—A two-run rally in the fifth inning lifted the host Falcons past the Badgers in a Division 1 regional final in Paddock Lake.

Two errors, an RBI sacrifice fly and a single by Mason Mitacek produced the go-ahead runs for Westosha. Crete Slattery hit a three-run home run in Badger's four-run sec-

Westosha's Keegan Kearby entered the game in the fifth, gave up a single and then retired the last nine Badger hitters he faced.

Girls soccer

Field in Madison. Their opponent will be determined over the weekend in a seeding meeting.

"That's crazy," said Milton's standout sophomore pitcher Gwen Baker of the state berth. "I couldn't be any prouder of this team."

Baker has not allowed a run in four WIAA tournament games. On Thursday, though, the 6-foot-1 righthander and her teammates were facing the Demons' ace Morgan Klein-who is headed to the University of St. Thomas (Minnesota) on an NCAA Division I schol-

As the top-seeded team, the Demons were the home team in Thursday's game.

"Not that all the pressure was on us. But yep, all the pressure was on us," Baker said.

Klein lived up to her billing as one of the top pitchers in the state. Through seven shutout innings, Klein delivered 20 strikeouts without a walk.

Knoble joined most of her teammates by striking out her third time up in the fifth inning.

Senior catcher Grace Schnell put the first chink in Klein's armor by drilling a single into left field in the seventh inning.

Ashley Vanderhei then laid down a solid sacrifice bunt to send courtesy runner Avery Agnew to second. Haley Reed then flied out to center and Klein got a strikeout to end the inning.

While the Red Hawks failed to score, they showed something besides swings and misses.

Milton shortstop Sophie Mesera applies the tag to Burlington's Kasey Lois, who was out trying to steal base during the Red Hawks' eight-inning, 1-0 victory in a WIAA Division 1 sectional final Thursday at Oregon.

Mussey said he had the hitters move up in the batter's box against Klein, which help reduce the break in her pitches.

"We just had to take advantage of our opportunities, which we have been doing the last couple of weeks," Mussey said.

But then came the eighth, when Milton finally broke through.

After a groundout and Klein's 20th and final strikeout began the eighth inning, Wolf lined a pitch over the centerfielder's head and slid safely into third.

Milton's designated hitter had struck out in her three previous at-bats.

"I was just thinking too much," Wolf said. "I knew I could hit off of her. It was all in the mind

"I just let it go and ripped it," she said. "It was awesome."

Knoble followed with more awesome. She dumped a single into center to score Wolf.

and excited," Knoble said of the at-bat, adding that she didn't know what type of pitch she got to hit.

Baker also singled, but Knoble was thrown out at "I was really confident third to end the inning.

That left it up to Baker to keep the Demons scoreless in the bottom of the eighth.

An error and a single allowed Burlington to put runners on second and third with two outs. But a groundout—on a close play at first-sent the Red Hawks into an infield celebration.

"It was a little nerve-wracking, but we pulled through," Baker

"That was just a great, great game," Mussey said. "That is why you work all winter and early spring. "Those girls deserve every bit of that," he said. "They work hard. These girls are playing to their full potential right now."

And that has earned the Red Hawks a trip to Madison.

"Discus is still Jessa's best event, but she's really been coming on in the shot put," Miles said. "She throws the discus right away on Friday morning to start the state meet, so that should really go a long way in setting the tone for her. # PREVIEW: WIAA STATE TRACK AND FIELD MEET

What: The 126th WIAA state boys track and field meet and the 51st state girls meet. When: Today and Saturday.

Where: Veterans Memorial Stadium, UW-La Crosse.

Tickets: Tickets are $11 per session plus online fees and can be purchased on the WIAA website. Parking is available for purchase on campus.

Live stream: A live stream of events will be available by subscription on the WIAA.TV portal of the NFHS Network.

Schedule: The first session on Friday starts at 9:30 a.m. and includes some boys and girls finals and preliminaries in other events. A second Friday session starts at 3 p.m. for Divisions 2 and 3. On Saturday, finals for all divisions begin at 9:30 a.m.

Defending team champions: Division 1, Hartland Arrowhead boys, Schofield D.C. Everest and Muskego girls; Division 2, Jefferson and Lodi boys, Freedom girls; Division 3, La Crosse Aquinas boys, Royall girls; Wheelchair, Marshfield Columbus boys, Beloit Turner girls.

Division 1 boys: Hartland Arrowhead has 16 qualifiers, in 12 of the 14 individual events and all four relays. Kimberly and Sun Prairie have 11 qualifiers each. The only individual returning champ is Hartford senior Cael Schoemann in the 800-meter run. Arrowhead returns after winning last year's 400, 1,600 and 3,200 relays.

Division 1 girls: Muskego and West De Pere will be represented in 14 events each, followed by Mukwonago with 13. Returning individual champs from 2020 are senior Jaiah Hopf of Wisconsin Lutheran (the two-time defending champ in the long jump and triple jump), senior Lauren Pansegrau of Middleton in the 3,200, DeForest junior Anna Szepieniec in the 300 hurdles, Waunakee junior Kyla Saleh in the high jump and junior Brooklyn Sandvig of Chippewa Falls in the 400. In 2019 Stevens Point's Roisin Willis won the 800 with a state-record time, and she set a national indoor record in the 800 this spring. She missed last year's state meet to compete in the U.S. National Team Trials. Olivia VanZeeland of Kaukauna returns after winning the high jump in 2019. Muskego won the 400, 800 and 1,600 relays last year.

Division 2 boys: Waukesha Catholic Memorial has 13 qualifiers, including all four relays. Lodi senior Lucas Heyroth is the defending champ in the 110 and 300 hurdles as well as the long jump. Shorewood junior Nathan Cumberbatch won the 400 and 800 last year. Beloit Turner senior Camden Combs qualified in four events and is back to defend his triple jump title, and Valders senior Shane Griepentrog won the 3,200 last year. Madison Edgewood senior Caden Thomas is the defending high jump champ and Little Chute senior Gavin Fritsch is back to defend his discus title. Ellsworth won the 400 and 800 relays last year.

Division 2 girls: Sophomore Nora Gremban of Eagle River Northland Pines won the 800 and 1,600 last year, Rice Lake sophomore Eliana Sheplee is back to defend her 400 title and Two Rivers junior Mikaela Helling won the 3,200 last year. La Crosse Logan senior Kalli Knoble won the high jump last year. Senior Sylvia Johansen of Clinton was the 2019 champ in the 100 dash and took second last year. This year she is the top qualifier. Returning relay champs are Edgewood in the 800, Freedom in the 1,600 and Shorewood in the 3,200.

Division 3 boys: Chetek/Weyerhauser and Grantsburg have eight qualifiers each. Senior Parker Schneider of Durand returns after winning the 800 and 1,600 last year, and Reesville senior Brennen Dvorachek won the 110 and 300 hurdles last year. Also back is Athens senior Caden Decker, the defending pole vault champ. Edgar won the 800 and 1,600 relays last year.

Division 3 girls: Lancaster leads the field with 11 qualifiers, including all four relays. Kayci Martensen of the Benton co-op won the 800, 1,600 and 3,200 last year and won the 1,600 and 3,200 in 2019. She's also a three-time state cross country champ. Other returning champs are junior Steffi Siewert of Deerfield in the 100, junior Kendal Stingle of Shiocton in the 300 hurdles and sophomore Izzy Bender of Fennimore in the high jump. Dodgeland senior Miranda Firari won the pole vault in 2019. Lancaster won the 800 relay last year and Boscobel won the 3,200 relay.

Gauff a teenager on a mission

The 18-year-old will meet No. 1 Swiatek in women's final

Associated Press

In some ways, Coco Gauff is very much a typical 18-year-old.

When she walked into Court Philippe Chatrier for her French Open semifinal on Thursday, she had earbuds in place, listening to a playlist she explained is "called 'Rap'—and I can't say the next word."

And in some ways she is an old soul, anything but a run-of-the-mill teen or run-of-the-mill tennis

So when Gauff wrapped up a 6-3, 6-1 victory over Martina Trevisan to reach her first Grand Slam final. setting up a showdown against No. 1-ranked Iga Swiatek on Saturday, the American teen thought of the recent spate of mass shootings in her home country and wrote in marker on a courtside TV camera: "Peace. End gun violence."

"I woke up this morning and I saw there was another shooting, and I think it's just crazy. I know that it's getting more attention now. But ... this has been an issue, at least in my head, for a long time, and I definitely think there needs to be some reform put into place," Gauff said.

"Now especially, being 18, I've really been trying to educate myself around certain situations, because now I have the right to vote and I want to use that

A willingness to speak out about issues of significance, and a wide-lens view of the world, reflect the sort of maturity that has served her well, especially with so much attention from such a young age. She won the French Open junior title at 14. She became the youngest qualifier in Wimbledon history and then beat Venus fourth round there at 15. "From what I see on court, she's developing every year, basically," said Swiatek, the champion at Roland Garros in 2020 and on a 34-match winning streak after eliminating No. 20 Daria Kasatkina 6-2, 6-1 on Thursday. "And when I see her, I tend to forget that she's 18."

Williams on the way to the

When Gauff arrived in Paris a little more than two weeks ago, she celebrated her recent high school graduation by posing for cap-and-gown photos near the Eiffel Tower while holding her diploma. Now, she's the youngest player to reach a major title match since Maria Sharapova won Wimbledon at 17 in 2004.

Gauff has won all 12 sets she's played, although she did not need to navigate the most arduous path to get this. Because of all manner of surprising results and early exits by top players from the bracket, she has faced only one seeded foe, No. 31 Elise

Big serves that reached 115 mph against Trevisan, a terrific backhand and a still-improving forehand are the keys to the 18th-seeded Gauff's game.

Now, in Swiatek, comes a much tougher test. The only Polish player to win a major singles title hasn't lost since February, stringing together five tournament titles in a row. Only Venus Williams, who won 35 consecutive matches in 2000, has a longer unbeaten stretch this cen-

"I'm just trying to treat these matches as any other matches," Swiatek said, "because it is stressful and I accept that. But I want to keep doing the same work."

The men's semifinals are today, with 13-time French Open champion Rafael Nadal playing No. 3 seed Alexander Zverev, and 2014 U.S. Open champion Marin Cilic facing No. 8 Casper Ruud.

SOUTHERN PINES, N.C.

Ingrid Lindblad decided months ago that she wanted to stay in college instead of turning professional.

That might be a financial decision she comes to

On Thursday, the 22-year-old Swede shot the lowest round by an amateur in the 77-year history of the U.S. Women's Open-a 6-under 65 that left her a shot behind first-round leader Mina Harigae.

Because she's an amateur, Lindblad wouldn't be able to collect the record $1.8 million first-place prize if she wins. She would have had to declare as a professional before the tournament began.

When asked if, in hindsight, that was a mistake, the LSU junior known to her friends as "Iggy" paused and said with a smile, "I'm going to stay in college for like another year or so.

"But when you say it, yeah ... it would have been fun to win a little bit of money," she said.

She still has 54 difficult holes left to navigate, but Lindblad has a chance to become only the second amateur to win the U.S. Women's Open. The other was Catherine Lacoste in Lindblad tied for 30th at 6-over 292 in her only other U.S. Women's Open appearance, in 2020.

She set the tone for a strong opening round in Southern Pines by winning the Southeastern Conference individual championship in April after making a 38-foot eagle putt on the 18th hole. She showed some of that same prowess on Thursday, needing only 26 putts.

"She was fearless," said Lindblad's playing partner, Annika Sorenstam, Sweden's most famous female golfer and a three-time U.S. Women's Open champion.

The Celtics' fourth-quarter comeback was the biggest in the Finals since Michael Jordan and the Chicago Bulls overcame a 15-point deficit to beat the Portland Trail Blazers in Game 6 in 1992.

Derrick White's 3-pointer over Curry with 5:40 left tied the game at 103, then Horford hit from deep the next time down to give the Celtics their first lead since halftime.

The Celtics are looking to capture their record-breaking 18th title, which would move them past the Lakers.

Brown, who starred at the nearby University of California for one college season, made consecutive baskets that tied the game at 47-47 with 5:03 left in the second quarter, and the Celtics led 56-54 at the break. Golden State then went on a signature third-quarter spurt, pouring in 38 points.

Brown then scored five quick points early in the fourth and assisted on an alley-oop dunk to Robert Williams III as the Celtics pulled back within 92-87 with 9:35 remaining. Brown's 3 at 8:22 made it 94-92 before Klay Thompson answered with a 3.

Andrew Wiggins scored six of Golden State's first 14 points and wound up with 20 in his finals debut, Draymond Green grabbed 11 rebounds before fouling out with 48.3 seconds left.
