Tyco introduces treatment system

GETS will remove 95% of PFAS, officials say

By DAN KITKOWSKI

MARINETTE—Johnson Controls Inc./Tyco Fire Protection Products unveiled its state-of-the-art facility this week that officials there believe will go a long way toward combatting the PFAS issue in this area.

About 80 people were on hand Tuesday for a ribbon-cutting ceremony at the company's Groundwater Treatment Building, located behind Marinette High School at the site of the former Ansul testing area in the 2100 block of Pierce Avenue. The event showcased JCI/Tyco's Groundwater Extraction & Treatment System (GETS). JCI/Tyco has spent $25 million on GETS and another $11 million on an Advanced Research and Testing Facility at the Fire Technology Center (FTC).

Katie McGinty | JCI/Tyco

sustainability and external relations officer for JCI/Tyco, said Tuesday was Tyco's day to invest in the community and invest in the future.

“It's vitally important that we certainly get our arms around this PFAS issue and fix it and that's what we're determined to do,” she said. “For Tyco, it's not a burden, but a privilege, to make clear to this community that we are in it with you as family and partners every day of the promising future.”

JCI/Tyco has taken full responsibility for issues caused by its former test site, considered to be one source of PFAS, also known as forever chemicals because of their staying power.

Per- and polyfluoroalkyl substances, or PFAS, are used to make firefighting foam, nonstick cookware, water-repellant material and other products and components, and they pose a health risk. They've been linked to cancer, birth defects, thyroid problems, liver damage, developmental delays and other health issues, according to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

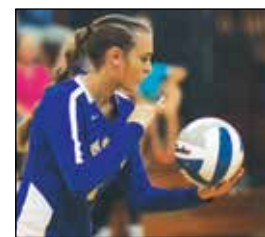

Earlier this summer, Wisconsin Attorney General Josh Kaul filed a lawsuit against Tyco and several other companies over the PFAS issue. Tyco spokeswoman Karen

Man dies in crash, another still missing

Incident happened in the town of Beaver

MARINETTE—Marinette County Sheriff Jerry Sauve reports that at 4 p.m. Wednesday, dispatch received a call of a power pole on fire between Highway 64 and County Trunk P on 3rd Road in the town of Beaver. The caller also reported an injured male was near the burning power pole.

Deputies who arrived on scene located a vehicle that appeared to have been southbound, went off the road into the east ditch striking the pole and came to rest in a corn field, Sauve said. Located near the crashed vehicle was a male that was ejected in the crash. He is believed to be a 53-year-old Hispanic male who was pronounced deceased on scene by the assistant Marinette County

Medical Examiner.

Two other Hispanic males were able to walk to a near by farm where they were treated by Coleman Rescue and transported to a hospital for treatment. A fourth Hispanic male, believed to be the driver, also left the scene on foot and has yet to be located. Significant follow up work needs to be on this case which remains under investigation by the Sheriff's Office and Medical Examiner, according to Sauve. The names and further information will be released later, he said.

Sauve said a Spanish-speaking deputy from Oconto County is assisting in the investigation.

Coleman Rescue, Pound Fire, Aurora Medical Center—Bay Area paramedics and Wisconsin Public Service all assisted at the scene. This is the fifth traffic fatality in Marinette County in 2022.

Tognarelli called the action an election-year ploy and said Tyco has spent millions tackling the problem. In August, the Town of Peshtigo announced intentions to file a lawsuit against those responsible for harming its water. Details of that lawsuit have not yet been disclosed.

GETS is an operation that extracts groundwater containing PFAS before it upwells into Ditch B, transports groundwater via underground pipes to the treatment system that removes PFAS from groundwater and delivers water that meets DNR standards into Ditch B.

Denice Nelson, Sr. Director of Environmental Remediation for JCI/Tyco, said the company found that water seeps primarily east and uploads into Ditch B.

"The whole intent of this project is to intercept that water that contains PFAS leaving our historic operations area and treat it before it gets into Ditch B," she said. "Discharging water will meet surface water standards and in fact be much lower than that. We just got our first sample back and everything came back non-defect."

Nelson explained that 28,000 linear feet of piping went into the project, which took a year to complete. She said it took the efforts of many—including the city, the school, contractors and more—to get the project done. There also was a lot of Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources oversight, she said.

"This was a real intense effort and we really appreciate everybody helping us get to where we are," Nelson said, adding that JCI/Tyco will be putting up a dashboard on its website so people can monitor the PFAS concentration going in and going out of GETS.

Chris Eichmann, general manager of Global Fire Suppression Products for JCI/Tyco, talked about the evolution of firefighting foam.

For years, the industry used Aqueous Film Forming foam (AFFF), a highly effective foam used for fighting high-hazard flammable liquid fires, such as fuel.

AFFF is usually created by combining foaming agents with fluorinated surfactants. It also contains PFAS.

Eichmann said JCI/Tyco has been making firefighting foam for more than 40 years and AFFF has been the market leader in such foams. He said JCI/Tyco has made some investments in chemists and laboratory expansion which resulted in its first non-fluorinated foam 18 months ago.

Eichmann played a video of the foam suppressing an oil/gas fire at a testing facility in Beaumont, Texas. The foam took about 90 seconds to fully blanket the fire.

“It’s more effective than fluorinated and eventually will eliminate AFFF all together,” Eichmann said.

JCI/Tyco officials also introduced employee Adam Walker, who is a fourth generation employee at the company. Those employees have worked a combined 124 years.

McGinty said the history of JCI/Tyco is employees, like Walker, making products that save lives.

“We want to make sure we are equipped with the tools so that a fire doesn’t mean that lives are lost, that dreams are shattered and that total nightmares replace the promising lives of young people—of moms, dads and kids,” she said.

McGinty said GETS is a part of a 3-prong “trifecta” that also includes excavating and removing contaminated soil to licensed out-of-state facilities, even though those soils are nowhere near standards set by the WDNR, and providing Town of Peshtigo residents in the Potable Well Sampling Area (PWSA) with the option of deep wells or possible annexation with the city of Marinette.

“Put it together and we think that today is the day we can begin to say this will indeed become a part of our past and we can celebrate the future,” she said.

After comments from JCI/Tyco personnel and the ribbon cutting, participants were welcome to a guided tour of the GETS facility.

No-cost flu shots are also available within your local community through April 30, 2023. To find a flu shot near you, logon to the VA locator and choose a nearby VA facility, in-network pharmacy or urgent care location.

The provider must be part of VA's community care network that includes retail pharmacies and many urgent care locations. Call ahead to see if a pharmacy participates in the VA flu shot program. If you receive a flu shot from a non-network provider, you may be liable for the cost of the vaccine.

To be eligible for a no-cost flu shot, you must be enrolled in the VA health care system and have received care from a VA provider or in-network community care provider within the past 24 months.

For more information about the flu, logon to <http://www.prevention.va.gov/flu> or <http://www.cdc.gov/flu>.

Oconto County Health provides flu vaccine update

OCONTO—Flu season is approaching and Oconto County Public Health is sharing information to keep people healthy. High dose flu vaccines are recommended for those age 65 and older this flu season. This recommendation was based on a review of available studies which suggests that, in this age group, high dose vaccines are potentially more effective than standard dose flu vaccines.

Those who receive a high dose vaccine may be more likely to have side effects such as fatigue, muscle pain, headache and soreness at the injection site. Side effects are usually mild and short-lived. If a high dose flu vaccine is not available at the time of vaccination, those age 65 and older should get a standard dose flu vaccine instead.

It is recommended to receive your flu vaccine by the end of October. Flu viruses typically circulate in the fall and winter months, and it is difficult to predict when the peak of flu cases will occur. It's important to get vaccinated before cases start to increase because it takes about two weeks for your body to build up protection after getting the vaccine. Along with getting your flu vaccine, it is important to wash your hands often, cover your coughs and sneezes and stay home from work, school and other activities when you are sick.

If you get sick with the flu, antiviral medication prescribed by your doctor can make your illness milder and shorten the time that you are sick.

Flu vaccine is available at doctor's offices and pharmacies, and at Oconto County schools for students in grades 4K-12 th grades. Oconto County Public Health will visit schools in October to provide free flu vaccines to students who turn in a signed and completed consent form.

Getting your flu vaccine is the best way to prevent serious illness, hospitalization and death from the virus, health officials say. People can also get their flu vaccine alone or at the same time as a COVID-19 vaccine.

FOIA exemptions feed public distrust

We have an idea for Michigan's governor to act on before the next term begins: Expand the state's Freedom of Information Act laws to apply to the executive office.

Then, if Gov. Gretchen Whitmer returns to office, what a positive, meaningful way to start her second term—holding to the promise she made to the people of the state of Michigan when she campaigned in 2018.

And, if she isn't returning, she can still act on that promise and leave it as a parting gift. What a statement that would make to her successor. So there.

Simply put, the public's work must be done in public.

That isn't happening right now. But it needs to happen—and it needs to happen soon. Openness is what it's going to take to help repair the damage that has been done in Michigan.

As we go about our work as reporters in this region, we encounter people who are upset with their government, who distrust the system. And any branch of government that is allowed to operate in secrecy sends a negative message that feeds that view.

Then, when an elected body has to be compelled by court order to provide information that the taxpaying, voting citizens have a right to know, it further confirms the distrust.

Why must a request for public information be viewed with suspicion? It truly is baffling to us. After all, elected officials are public servants. Questions regarding the public's business should not be an imposition, those questions should be expected—welcomed, in fact—and answered promptly.

We've got a big problem in Michigan, which is one of only two states that exempt both the governor's office and the Legislature from FOIA requests.

That's right: Forty-eight states are more open than our Midwestern "model of integrity." What the heck happened here? High-flying intentions of openness and accountability have been expressed, literally for years, but legislative proposals have stalled, withering in committee in the state Senate.

The Center for Public Integrity gave Michigan an "F" grade for executive and legislative accountability, among other categories, in 2015. Not much has changed since then.

House lawmakers proposed FOIA improvements in the wake of the Flint water disaster. In 2020, a 10-bill package, the first significant revisions to the FOIA in its more than 40-year history, began to wend its way through the Legislature. These would have removed the exemptions that allow the Legislature and governor's office to operate in secret.

We should note that the existing FOIA law doesn't explicitly exempt the Legislature. But, when a 1986 attorney general's opinion held that the statute was intended to shield lawmakers from public view while conducting the public's business, it had the force of law. That provides a convenient cover for legislators, unless they choose to do something about it.

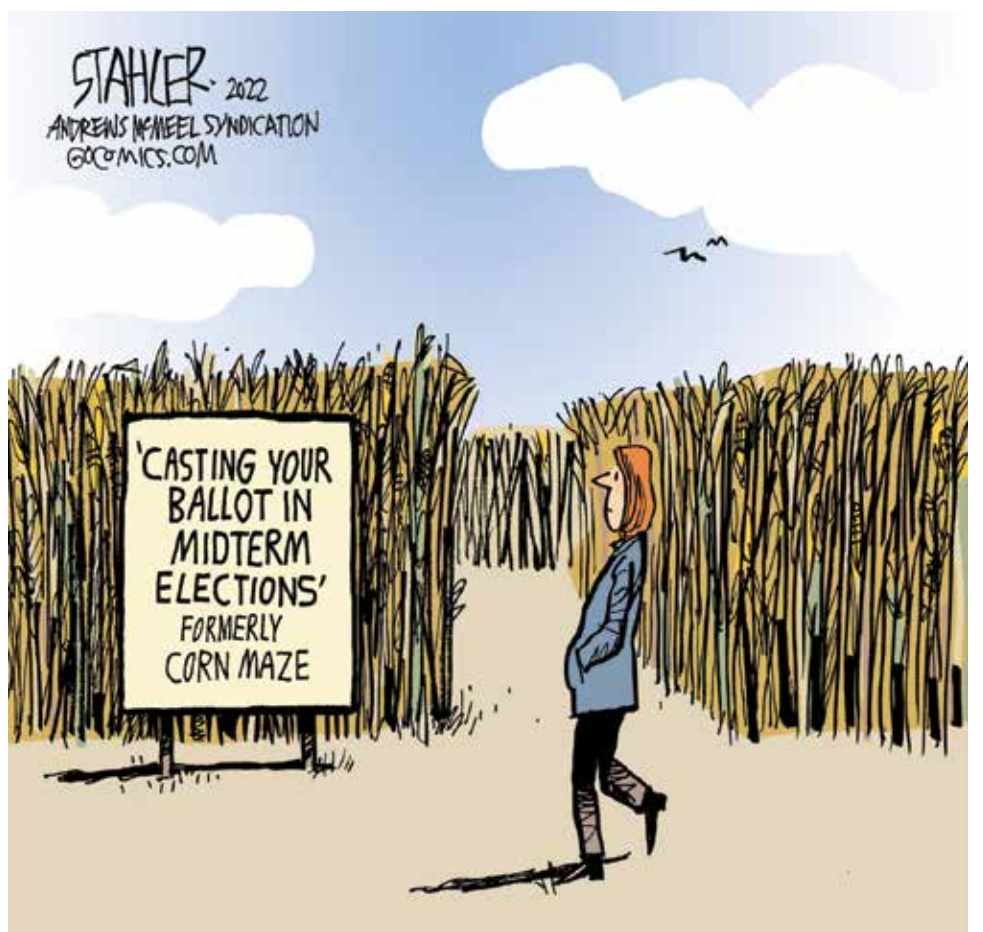

Here's the point: They need to do something about it—unless they've got a lot to hide. That's the message voters are getting.

In the meantime, a group called Progress Michigan isn't relying on the governor or Legislature to do anything. They're planning a ballot initiative for November 2024 calling for the elimination of those FOIA exemptions for the Legislature and governor's office.

Either way, something's going to give. We'd prefer it be sooner rather than later—for the sake of our state.

OUR VIEW

An update on our new format

Thank you to everyone who has taken the time to provide overwhelming feedback on the new look of our products. Most of you have been positive, understanding and accepting. Some of you have been critical and a few just flat-out dislike it. We understand.

Orestes Baez

The positive feedback lingered around statements like: "It's about time," "I love the new size," and "it's easier to read." Those that were understanding commented on our initiative to save money. Those who were accepting mentioned it would take some getting used to.

The critical comments traveled various roads including the type size, the paper page counts (most increased), less content (not true), the comics changed (true), and the puzzles changed (true). We wanted to address the most prevalent one—the size of the print.

When we made the format change we changed from a style called "Miller Daily" to a style named "Kepler." However, we went from a letter size of 9.8 points to a letter size of 10.5 points—we made it bigger. Yes, the letters are 7% taller.

We think the issue for readers is that the style of the printed letters can be perceived as "smaller letters." We were told by the designers that readers will adjust to the style of letters over time. We care about your comments and will monitor the editions and make adjustments as we refine our new look.

Thank you for your feedback and for being a loyal reader.

Orestes Baez is the publisher of The Janesville Gazette and the regional president for Adams Publishing Group—Southern Wisconsin Group.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Both parties need energetic, bright candidates

Dear Editor,

To the Democratic and Republican parties: Both parties have a large membership with many young, energetic, bright people with new and bold ideas. So why is it that every election cycle you trot out the same clown car of candidates with nothing new to offer? They flounder around, never telling us what they'll do if elected. Instead they just demonize their opponents. What would happen if for each office the voters were offered the choice of None of the Above? | think the number of voters making that choice would be astounding. We are citizens of the Untied States. We can do better than this. Can't we?

Lawyer: Teen a worry months before Michigan school shooting

DETROIT (AP)—Some teachers and a counselor at a Michigan high school were aware of a teen's troubling interest in guns and violence months before he was accused of fatally shooting four students and wounding others, a lawyer representing victims' families said Thursday.

"From literally the beginning of school, Ethan Crumbley was evidencing signs of being a highly troubled individual, to say the least," said Detroit attorney Ven Johnson, citing depositions taken in a civil lawsuit against Oxford Community Schools and some staff at Oxford High School.

HOROSCOPE FOR SEPTEMBER 23

HAPPY BIRTHDAY: Take the path that makes you happy. Use your imagination, and you'll find a way to improve your surroundings. Setting up a designated space to work on something that interests you is encouraged. Always doing for others but never for yourself will cause frustration and dissatisfaction. Make changes that allow you the freedom to follow your heart. Romance is on the rise.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Gauge your every move. You will fall behind if you miscalculate what you can handle mentally, physically or financially. Don't ignore how much preparation is necessary to reach your destination. 3 stars

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Make plans with someone who puts a smile on your face and offers mental stimulation. Your discussions will open a window of opportunity to help you discover what you want to do next. Mix business with pleasure. 5 stars

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Refuse to get into an emotional situation with someone who tends to embellish or overreact. Stick to the truth and pay attention to detail, and you will ward off an argument that will stand between you and what you want to pursue. 2 stars

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Go above and beyond, and give whatever you do a twist that makes you stand out. Getting others to notice what you offer will lead to opportunities to branch out in areas of interest. 3 stars

tion toward what interests the masses. Preparation will ensure you address concerns that make a difference to you and those you are trying to encourage to pitch in and help. Mix business with pleasure. 3 stars

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): It's up to you to change. Don't wait for someone to do the work for you. Change begins with you; the motion to dig in and make a difference will pay off if you follow through by acting out your thoughts. 3 stars

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Stick close to home. Don't feel the need to share your thoughts and feelings. Arguing will not help you solve issues. Focus on making your space functional, and you'll find it easier to be productive. Leave nothing to chance. 3 stars

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Put your heart and soul into getting things done to your specifications. Share information with people with similar plans, and you'll save time and money when putting your ideas to the test. Compromise will lead to positive change in a meaningful relationship. 4 stars

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Be careful what you wish for and who you discuss private matters with, and you'll avoid confusion. Don't trust anyone to do things your way or to pass along valid information. Double-check everything that matters to you before proceeding. 2 stars

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Participate in activities you enjoy, and spend time with loved ones. How you conduct business and pleasure will make a difference in how others view you. Friendly banter and a generous spirit will lead to better relationships, trust and favorable outcomes. 5 stars

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Put your energy where it will warrant a positive outcome, and don't stop until you are satisfied with the results. An opportunity due to your hard work and dedication will help you make a name for yourself among your peers. 3 stars

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Look for foreseeable problems before you commit. Monitor what others do and how they feel before you share your beliefs. Having an idea of what you want and what will work for you will help eliminate anyone trying to confuse or sway you. 3 stars

Opening Lead: Spade seven

"If he were To be made honest by an act of parliament I should not alter in my faith of him."

— Ben Jonson

In today's par deal, after North rebids one no-trump, South subtly asks for key-cards after finding the spade fit. South makes a grand-slam try, whereupon North admits to holding the heart king, so South leaps to seven spades.

When West leads a trump, declarer can see a potential fourth-round club loser. He might draw two rounds of trumps and then cash the top clubs. If the hand with short clubs had no more trumps, declarer might take a ruff in dummy, or he could draw trumps, test clubs and then fall back on the diamond finesse. He could also try to ruff down the diamond king and then make his best guess in clubs based on what he has seen to date.

Better yet, if declarer can ruff three diamonds in his hand, he will not need to do anything with the fourth club. That line needs trumps to split 3-2 and four entries to dummy: three for ruffs and another to get back in and draw trumps. South will have to be careful with the timing, though!

After winning the lead in hand, declarer crosses to the diamond ace and ruffs a diamond high. Next comes a trump to dummy, testing the split there. When everyone follows, declarer ruffs another diamond and then uses dummy's heart entries to take a further diamond ruff and to get back to draw the last trump. Bravo!

Had someone shown out on the second trump, declarer would have reverted to drawing trumps. Then he would run his winners, playing for a minor-suit squeeze or to sniff out the club position in the ending.

ANSWER: Do not get cute. This hand will likely make a game opposite four small spades and nothing. As one spade could end the auction, you should open two clubs. You plan to rebid spades and hope to get clubs in next. Anytime you can make game facing one trick (or real support in a very weak hand), consider opening two clubs.

ASK THE DOCTORS

Study links drinking carbonated water to weight gain

Dear Doctors: As part of a reducing diet, we like to drink plain carbonated water. There's no sugar in it, no additives and no sweeteners. But apparently there is a new study that says carbonated water leads to weight gain? Why would that be? Should we give it up?

Dear Reader: Carbonated water gets its bubbles by being infused with carbon dioxide gas under pressure. With no added sugars and no calories, it has become a mainstay of American life. For proof, you need look no further than the beverage aisle of your local supermarket, where a dizzying array of sparkling water fills the shelves.

But, as you point out, researchers have rained on the fizzy water parade. A study published several years ago in the journal Obesity Research and Clinical Practice linked drinking carbonated water to weight gain. The results don't blame the beverages directly. Rather, they suggest the carbon dioxide that gives fizzy water its effervescence has an effect on body chemistry that can lead to overeating.

EVE GLAZIER, M.D., &

The scientists looked at how both artificially sweetened and plain carbonated water affected rats over the course of a year. They found that those who drank either type of sparkling water gained more weight than those who drank only plain water or carbonated water that had been degassed (sparkling water that had released all of its carbon dioxide and gone flat).

It turned out that drinking either the plain or the artificially sweetened carbonated water was causing the rats to secrete increased levels of an important hormone known as ghrelin. Among ghrelin's many functions is signaling the body that it's time to eat. This led to ghrelin being known as the "hunger hormone." When the stomach is empty, concentrations of ghrelin increase. This leads to the sensations we interpret as hunger.

The researchers also looked at the effects of sparkling water in humans. They had 20 male participants drink either carbonated or plain water, and the results matched those of the rodent study. The men who drank either unsweetened or artificially sweetened carbonated water had triple the blood levels of ghrelin than did those who drank either plain water or degassed sparkling water. The study rotated the four beverages among all of the participants, so that by the end of the study, each man had partaken of each beverage. They concluded that the presence of carbon dioxide led to an increase in ghrelin production.

These findings raise interesting questions about the role of fizzy water in weight management. However, a single study with a small pool of all-male human volunteers can't be considered conclusive. While ghrelin is known to stimulate appetite, its role in overeating and obesity is a subject of ongoing debate. Rather than take the results of the research as established fact, you might try an experiment of your own. Compare hunger levels on days when you drink carbonated water with days when you don't. Based on your results, you can choose to cut back — or cut out — your intake.

Elizabeth Ko, M.D., is an internist and assistant professor of medicine at UCLA Health.)

DEAR ABBY

Wife can't abide husband's other love: His marijuana

JEANNE PHILLIPS

Dear Abby: I have been with my husband for seven years, and I'm tired of having the same fight every day. He smokes marijuana, and I hate it. It has been a constant battle for years. We tried therapy, which helped for a while, but he goes back to smoking behind my back. We tried to reach a compromise that he smoke only after a certain time of day, but it still leads to fights.

He shuts me out when he's doing drugs and says I don't care about his happiness because it's something he enjoys, and I am taking it away. I love him so much, but I hate drugs and don't like who he becomes when he's smoking.

I want to have a baby, but I am uncomfortable with drugs being in the house. I feel like I can't trust him to be alone with a baby when he's high. I don't want to leave him, but I can't take it anymore. It's had a really negative impact on our marriage. I want him to choose me over this, but if I give him an ultimatum, he'll hate me. What do I do?

— Anti-drug in Illinois
Dear Anti-drug:

Give your husband that ultimatum and pack your bags. If you prefer the father of your child not have a marijuana habit and he cannot quit, then, as much as you may love him, this person isn't The One for you. Sorry.

Dear Abby: I have developed a mutual bond with a woman who is 30 — 28 years younger than myself. She's a waitress at a diner I frequent. I've seen her children grow over the past six or seven years. We have had many meaningful conversations and shared our highs and lows. She's naturally friendly.

Three or four years ago, she began sharing casual side hugs when I arrived. Over the last year, these hugs have become more intimate, not in a sexual way — just a deeper bond of friendship. We occasionally IM when she's off work, but I don't see her socially.

Lately she has been teasing that she'll be my next ex. I reciprocate the flirting. I believe there is a mutual attraction. If not for the age difference, which I'm OK with, or the fear of causing issues with our friendship, I'd ask her out. Societal taboos weigh heavily on my mind, and I am pragmatic. Should I or shouldn't I? Or am I reading too much into our friendship?

— Unsure in the Midwest

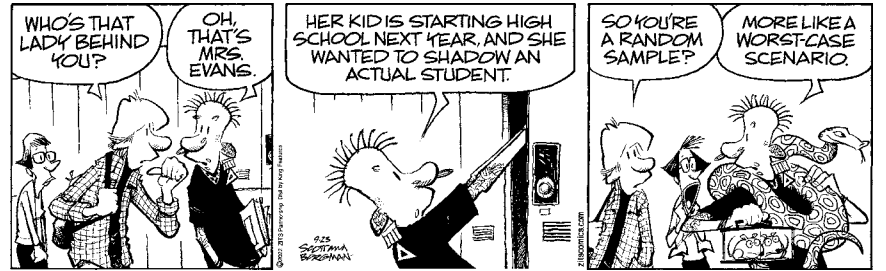

Dear Unsure: Not having witnessed the chemistry between you, I couldn't say. However, nothing ventured, nothing gained. The next time you see her, after one of those "more intimate" hugs, tell her teasingly that you have been thinking about her comment that she'll be your next ex and ask if she'd like to have dinner with you. Wisconsin Republicans reject Evers call for abortion vote

By SCOTT BAUER
Associated Press

MADISON, Wis.—Wisconsin Republicans on Wednesday rejected Democratic Gov. Tony Evers' call to allow voters to get a chance to repeal the state's 1849 abortion ban.

Evers called Wednesday for a special session of the GOP-controlled Legislature to pass a measure creating a way for voters to repeal the 173-year-old law. But within hours of announcing his proposal, Republican legislative leaders summarily rejected it as a political stunt.

It's the latest move by Evers to put pressure on Republicans over abortion and keep the issue in the spotlight ahead of the election. Polls have repeatedly shown that a majority of Wisconsin residents support abortion rights. Evers is in a tight race with Republican Tim Michels, who supports the state's ban, which has no exceptions in cases of rape or incest.

Wisconsin clinics stopped performing abortions after Democratic Wisconsin Gov. Tony Evers calls the Republican-controlled Wisconsin Legislature into special session to create a pathway for a statewide vote to repeal the state's 1849 ban on abortions at a news conference Wednesday in the governor's conference room in the state Capitol of Madison, Wis.

the U.S. Supreme Court overturned Roe v. Wade, as a legal fight plays out to determine whether the state's pre-Civil War era abortion ban is in effect.

Evers has repeatedly used the tactic of calling special sessions on hot-button political issues, including gun control and expanding Medicaid, to put Republicans on the spot. They have never acted on any of the special session calls, including one in June to repeal the state's ban.

"Hopefully, voters see through his desperate political stunt," Republican Assembly Speaker Robin Vos and GOP Senate Majority Leader Devin LeMahieu said in a joint statement rejecting Evers.

Still, lawmakers will have to formally convene and then adjourn the special session on Oct. 4 as called by Evers, giving Democrats another chance to hit Republicans on the issue.

"Right now, today, when it comes to reproductive freedom, the will of the people isn't the law of the land but it damned well should be, folks," Evers said at a state Capitol news conference surrounded by Democratic state lawmakers.

Evers noted that Republican U.S. Sen. Ron Johnson recently voiced support for having voters in the state vote on adding exceptions to the state's abortion law. Johnson, who is also up for reelection in November, supports exceptions for rape and incest that don't exist under the current state law.

Caregiver, brain health conference set

In the state of Wisconsin, approximately one in five individuals are family caregivers. The term family caregiver is defined as any relative, friend or neighbor who provides a variety of assistance with daily activities for an older person or adult with a chronic condition, who are unpaid and have no formal training to provide services. It is estimated that nearly 80 percent of all care in the state of Wisconsin is provided by family caregivers, and family caregivers provide more than 490 million unpaid hours of care annually. The month of November is National Family Caregivers Month, and it is a time to recognize family caregivers both in our local communities and nationwide. To honor and show appreciation for the hard work and many sacrifices that comes with family caregiving, Dementia Care Specialist Kennedy Suhr with the Aging & Disability Resource Center of Marinette County, and Mary Jo Ruleau with the Aging & Disability Resource Center of the Wolf Rover Region, are partnering to host a Fall Caregiver & Brain Health Conference. The conference will include a variety of presentations by guest speakers including Jody Krainer with Badger Talks, retired Geriatric Nurse Practitioner Julie Roznowski-Olson and former Wisconsin Governor and author of the book My Two Elaines, Martin J. Schreiber. There will be a resource fair, memory screenings and the opportunity to participate in Dementia Live. The Fall 2022 Caregiver & Brain Health Conference is free to Marinette, Oconto, Menominee and Shawano County residents and will be held on Nov. 1 at Waubesa Lake Lodge in Lakewood Wisconsin. A free soup and salad bar lunch is included for all conference attendees, and transportation to and from this event is available. Registration and the resource fair begin at 8:45 a.m. and presentations will start promptly at 10:00 a.m. Reservations for this event are required. To reserve a spot or for any additional information people can call Suhr at 715-732-3850, or Ruleau at 715-526-4712.

IN BRIEF

Alzheimer's support group plans meetings

The Care & Share Alzheimer's Support Group is a gathering for caregivers of loved ones with Alzheimer's and other diseases and conditions that may cause dementia symptoms. The support group offers an opportunity for caregivers to confidentially share experiences, discuss concerns including communication skills, and learn about available resources in our community. The group meets in Peshtigo from 1 to 3 p.m. on the first and third Friday of each month at Faith Church, 350 N. Stephenson Ave., and in Menominee from 4 to 6 p.m. every Wednesday at Emmanuel Lutheran Church, 2901 13th St.

Wisconsin agent charged in shooting

By TODD RICHMOND
Associated Press

MADISON, Wis.—A Wisconsin Department of Justice agent was charged Thursday with reckless endangerment in the nonfatal shooting of an unarmed man as officers were carrying out an arrest warrant during a traffic stop in Madison.

Mark Wagner was charged in the Feb. 3 shooting of Quadren Wilson, who was wounded in the back but survived. Wilson is Black and Wagner is white, and Wilson's family has said they believe race was a factor in the shooting.

It wasn't immediately clear why another agent who fired at Wilson wasn't charged. Dane County District Attorney Ismael Ozanne declined an interview request through his paralegal, who said Ozanne was "ethically prohibited" from commenting on the case.

Wagner would face up to 10 1/2 years in prison if convicted. His attorney, listed in court records as Michael Steinle, didn't immediately reply to a phone message seeking comment.

"The Wilson family (is) happy," said the family's attorney, Stephen Eisenberg. "It appears at least justice is attempting to be done. They want someone to be accountable for this shooting. They're a Black family. They've witnessed what's been going on in this country, how Black men have been treated by law enforcement for years."

Wilson, 38, was released on extended supervision in February 2020 after serving a little more than a year in prison for second-degree reckless endangerment. The state Department of Corrections had issued a warrant for him on the morning he was shot for violating the conditions of his release. He was wanted for allegedly dealing fentanyl to a man found dead of an overdose in a Blooming Grove restaurant bathroom in April 2021.

According to the criminal complaint, Wagner and a number of other Justice Department agents were part of a task force working to arrest Wilson, who was wearing a GPS tracker required under his release.

The team intercepted Wilson as he was driving on the outskirts of Madison and decided to pin his car between two Justice Department pickup trucks. One truck stopped in front of him and he rear-ended it. The other truck rear-ended Wilson, pinning his car between them, the complaint says.

Wagner approached Wilson's car carrying a ballistic shield that said "POLICE" and with his pistol drawn. Another state agent, Nathan Peskie, was beside him with a rifle.

Wilson began revving his engine in an attempt to free himself from between the two trucks. Wilson's windows were tinted and a third agent smashed one out so police could see inside, the complaint says.

Line 5 safely delivers reliable, affordable energy.

At Enbridge, we deliver reliable, affordable energy to where it's needed to heat homes and schools, and power our economy.

The proposed relocation of a segment of Line 5 in northern Wisconsin will help keep energy flowing safely to Wisconsin and the Midwest—while respecting the Bad River Band's request to remove the pipeline from their reservation.

The project will create hundreds of construction jobs and inject millions of dollars into local and Tribal economies.

Pipelines are the safest way to transport the vital energy that Line 5 carries, and minimizes tanker traffic from the Great Lakes and transportation by truck and rail.

COLEMAN 3, GILLETT 0

COLEMAN—The Coleman girls volleyball team made short work of Gillett in a 3-0 sweep of their Marinette and Oconto Conference rival on Tuesday.

The Cougars easily won all three matches, taking set one 25-9, blowing out Gillett 25-7 in the second game and polishing matters off with a 25-14 victory in the third set.

Katie Knox had a team-high 13 aces, two blocks and seven kills for Coleman. Sylvia Fochesato led the Cougars in assists with six.

Gillett did not report any stats.

The Tigers hosted Crivitz on Thursday, with results unavailable at press time.

CRIVITZ 3, ONEIDA NATION 0

CRIVITZ—The Crivitz girls volleyball team notched a three-game sweep of Oneida Nation in M&O Conference play on Tuesday.

The Wolverines sweated out a 25-16 victory in the first game before picking up matching 25-8 blowout victories in sets two and three.

Senya Caine led Crivitz with eight kills. Lilli Watson set the table for her teammates with 22 assists.

The Thunderhawks did not report any stats.

Crivitz was at Gillett on Thursday, with results unavailable at press time. The Wolverines head to Algoma on Saturday at 9 a.m..

NIAGARA 3, WAUSAUKEE 0

NIAGARA—The Niagara girls volleyball team broke out the brooms in a clean 3-0 sweep of Wausaukee in M&O Conference competition on Tuesday.

The Lady Badgers won set one 25-16 before wrapping up with sweep with identical 25-11 decisions in sets two and three.

Morgan Borchardt paced the Lady Badgers in assists with 20. Mallory Sanicki and Emma Brasure tallied a team-high eight kills, while Erin Lukowski led the team in digs (5) and aces (3).

The Lady Rangers did not report any stats.

Niagara was at Lena on Thursday, with results unavailable at press time. Next up for the Lady Badgers is a home triangular on Tuesday starting at 4:30 p.m.

task against the Milwaukee Academy of Science.

The Novas, in just their second season fielding a football team, are currently 4-1. MAS took down Living World Lutheran 34-0 on September 17.

The Novas feature a high-octane offense that is averaging 35.6 points per game and has out-scored their opposition 178-65.

MAS averages just 54 rushing yards per contest. Sophomore Josiah Johnson leads the way with 300 yards and five touchdowns on 27 carries but no other player has more than 30 yards on the ground.

Sophomore Kameron Williams is the Nova's second-leading rusher with five carries for 27 yards, while fellow sophomore Tyreek Patrick has two carries for three yards and one score.

While MAS does just enough on the ground to keep opposing defenses honest, its aerial attack is where the Novas do most of their damage.

Freshman quarterback Brayln Albritton has completed 85 of 133 passes (63.9 completion percentage) for 1,456 yards and 17 touchdowns, although he has shown youthful inexperience in tossing 10 interceptions.

Five different MAS players have over 100 yards receiving.

Junior Timothy Davis has 16 receptions for a team-high 375 yards and four touchdowns, while sophomore Cameron Gray has 18 catches for 288 yards and four scores. Williams (10-165-3 TDs), Brian Stewart (10-255-3 TDs) and Jaquawn Overton-Allen (8-119-TD) give Albritton plenty of options to throw to.

Defensively, the Novas will bring the pressure with Tez Jones (team-high 7.5 sacks) leading the way. Patrick (four sacks), Brandon Moore (three sacks) will give Menominee's offensive line plenty of trouble, while Overton-Allen, Dalevion Huff and Jamius Bell all have one sack on the year and figure to harass Menominee's quarterback.

MAS has also picked off six passes, with Overton-Allen tallying two of them.

While the Novas come into Saturday's game with a winning record, it has come against less-than-stellar competition, as none of the fifth schools MAS has played has a winning record and are a combined 6-20 on the year.

The Maroons figure to be MAS's first true test of the season.

Trevor Theuerkauf has thrown for 407 yards, six touchdowns and four interceptions while running for another 173 and a score on the ground.

Throw in the rushing of Kaeden Calcari (48-189-2 TDs) and Landan Bardowski (37-202-4 TDs) and the Novas will have their hands full trying to contain the Maroons' ground game.

Calcari is Menominee's leading pass catcher with eight receptions for 98 yards and two touchdowns. Kaiden Bell (6-78) and Kaden Starzynski (3-68-TD) will see touches.

Saturday's game kicks off at 3 p.m.

Maroons set for rare Saturday showdown with Novas

By MATT LEHMANN
EagleHerald Sports Editor

MENOMINEE—Fresh off snapping a two-game losing skid, the Menominee Maroons will look to continue their winning ways in a rare Saturday game at Walton Blesch field.

The Maroons are riding high after knocking off Great Northern Conference rival Escanaba 48-28 last week. That victory halted a September swoon for Menominee, who had dropped their prior two games by a combined margin of 76-12.

After getting back on track against the Eskymos, the Maroons face another tough

Marine boys bottled up against Foxes

MARINETTE—Jin Lee powered in two goals as the Fox Valley Lutheran boys soccer team got the best of Marinette 4-1 in North Eastern Conference play on Tuesday.

The Foxes (4-0 NEC, 6-3 overall) took a 2-0 halftime lead behind goals from Lincoln Fleming and John Callaway while holding Marinette to just one shot-on-goal in the first half.

The Marines (1-1 NEC, 2-4 overall) made it a one-goal game early in the second half thanks to a penalty kick by Damien Winterbottom, but were otherwise bottled up offensively by FVL.

Lee's two goals came in the second half as the Foxes took a three-goal lead.

Callaway had two assists while Fleming notched one.

Marinette was at Luxemburg-Casco on Thursday, with results unavailable at press time. The Marines travel to Waupaca on Tuesday for a 6:30 p.m. start time.

said. "She had a good plan. The key for Attica coming down to this race is she's familiar with the course, and I believe it's Marinette's time first coming out here. There are some hills on the backside, and we talk about using those hills to become a sprinter to take runners. On the last hill, she was able to use that to throw herself around the corner to the finish line."

After settling for second place to Escanaba on Saturday, a fully healthy Marinette team placed three runners in the top-10 and four in the top-20 to edge the Eskymos for first place 40-52.

"Start to finish both sides, great races," Marinette coach Jennie Campbell said. "Their strategy was awesome. I love to see the teamwork out of some of the kids and them sharing how their race strategy is unfolding. Again, it was a battle between Attica and Addison. She dialed it in closer today, and unfortunately, they won't see each other again this season."

Brandt topped Lacy by 19 seconds in Marquette earlier this season, 16 seconds on Saturday and four seconds on Wednesday.

Behind Lacy, Julia Cano Hidalgo, Madison Kunick and Lauren Sadowski all earned medals (top-20 finishers). Cano Hidalgo (23:53.9) and Kunick (24:04.0) crossed the line together in sixth and seventh place, while Sadowski was 15th at 25:26.5.

"Julia stepped up again, and Lauren ran well," Campbell said. "Our two through five are really starting to pull closer on both the guys and the girls' side, which is really exciting to see and I'm looking forward to that improving as the season goes on. We've got pretty tight fours and our fives are coming in."

Lacy Carviou placed 26th at 27:28.6 to round out the Marines' scoring five. Karissa Valitchka crossed the line in 28:59.0 and Ava Loomis ran 31:58.1 for Marinette.

While Brandt turned in her second consecutive victory, Mikaka Mead ran a solid 28:46.5 for the Maroons, and Gabby Ellery competed as a junior varsity runner and completed the course in 32:52.5.

The Stephenson girls also had a strong showing, placing third with 67 points.

The Eagles were led by medal finishes from Kayela Putnam, Jada Kuntze and Faith Cappaert. Putnam finished 11th at 25:10.0. Kuntze was 13th at 25:14.7, and Cappaert was 19th at 26:07.0.

Joelle Beaudou (22, 26:23.6) and Lyla Engel (37, 29:06.3) completed the scoring five for Stephenson. Morgan Berquist ran 29:20.7, while JV runners Devyn Lusardi (28:50.6), Sarah Labs (30:34.0) and Brete Starzynski (32:36.5) also ran for the Eagles.

In the boys race, Gladstone brothers Drew and Aaron Huges finished one-two. Drew set the pace at 17:29.9 while Aaron ran 18:27.8. That set the tone for a 45-point effort from Gladstone. Escanaba was second at 71 points and Marinette was third at 75 points.

David Jezowski, Jackson Draheim and Hunter Schneider all came home with medals for the Marines. Jezowski placed sixth among 52 runners with a time of 19:52.0. Draheim was 12th at 20:36.0, and Schneider was 14th at 20:48.3.

"David and Jackson ran great strategies," Campbell said. "They started a little faster today and then settled into pace, and they've found that works better for them. Hunter had a great race, and Aiden Anderson continues to improve every day."

Dylan Demmth finished 31st at 22:38.0 and Aidan Anderson scored with a 34th-place finish in a time of 23:04.8. Evan

EAGLEHERALD/JOSH LACY

Brock Murphy sprints to the finish line at the Dale Fountain Invitational. Murphy was Menominee's top finisher, placing 18th with a time of 21:13.

Reines was 35th at 23:12.0, and Aaron Peterson was 45th at 25:16.2. Rodney Hollar ran as a JV competitor and turned in a time of 32:24.2.

Stephenson and Menominee finished fifth and sixth respectively.

The Eagles were led by Griffin Brown who placed seventh at 20:05.3. Ethyn Lusardi was 17th at 21:06.8 and Jacob Ross was 19th at 21:15.5. Cano Kuntz just missed a medal at 21:37.6 in 21st-place. Hunter Marks ran 23:47.1 and Luke Olson ran 25:06.6.

Brock Murphy paced the Maroons, finishing 18th in a time of 21:13.1. Aden Short was 33rd at 22:50.6. Brayden and Blake Bourion finished in 24:29.5 and 24:47.1, while Adian McKinney ran as a JV in a time of 36:26.5.

"We've got a couple runners out," Burmeister said, "but the boys did great. Brock ran a good race. Aden Short is getting better every week. It's taking small steps toward that championship part of our season."

Menominee and Stephenson will return to action in Munising on Tuesday. The Marines will compete in Oconto on Tuesday.

Marines face another tough Packerland Conference test

Marinette, Bonduel both looking to snap losing streaks

By JOSH LACY

EagleHerald sports contributor

MARINETTE—The Marinette football team welcomes Bonduel to Higley Stadium tonight.

The Marines face another uphill challenge following four consecutive losses.

Bonduel is also looking to get back in the win column after back-to-back losses to Southern Door and Kewaunee.

“They are a top-three team in our conference with Kewaunee and Southern Door,” Marinette coach Nate Anderson said of the Bears. “They run with power. They are very similar to Menominee, but they run more inside. If they can’t establish the run, they have some athletes to throw to as well.”

For the Marines it is all about seeing young players make strides.

“I thought we got better in our last game,” Anderson said. “I want to see that again. The bottom half of our schedule is full of games that we can win and we should win, but we can’t have any breakdowns.

The Marines have struggled to find an offensive identity this season with three of their five games ending in single-digit points on the board including last-week’s 34-6 loss to Southern Door.

Ethan Doubek leads Marinette with 219 yards on 10-of-29 passing.

Three Marines have eclipsed 100-yards rushing on the season in Leahland Bertrand (48-279), Doubek (47-173) and Lyric Anthony (17-129).

The Marines may be happy to see a run-first offense after allowing an average of 165 yards through the air in their last three games.

The Bears are led by senior running-back Louis Hrabik who has totaled 477 yards on 82 carries. Gaven Vance also averaged five yards per carry and has totaled 151 yards, while Noah Weier has racked up 138 yards on the ground.

Weier also spins the ball for Bonduel. The 6’1” junior has completed 37-of-70 passes (52.9%) for 487 yards and five touchdowns.

His favorite target is Cade Johnson, a 5’8” sophomore who has caught 13 passes for 162 yards.

“I’d like to see us prove that we are getting better and eliminating mistakes,” Anderson said. “I want to see us string some wins together here at the end of the season.”

Tonight’s game is set for a 7 p.m. kick-off at Higley Stadium in Marinette.

Miller said. “We had girls stepping into positions that they hadn’t even practiced, let alone played in, before and they did a really nice job. This was a big team win.”

“I’m proud of my girls for regrouping in that fifth game and coming back to fight as hard as they did, but it shouldn’t have gotten to a fifth game,” Menominee coach Sarah Betzinger said. “The majority of this was the best volleyball that they’ve played all season. Stephenson is a good team and you have to give them credit. This was a battle where anyone could have come out on top tonight.”

The evening’s opening contest saw the two teams go back and forth to an 8-8 tie before strong play at the net by Piper Monroe helped Menominee seize a 14-10 advantage.

Melissa Johnson ripped off three aces to help Stephenson take a two-point lead, but several poor serves by the Eagles coupled with an ace by Jade Jasenovsky help the Maroons regain the 19-18 edge.

Stephenson regrouped to take a 22-20 lead but Menominee would not be denied the victory, with Faith Herbert powering over an ace before a thunderous spike by Monroe gave the Maroons a 25-22 win.

The Eagles seemed to have game two under control early after building an 8-1 cushion, but aces from Monroe and Rachel Magrane along with a block-kill by Hanna Drifka chipped Menominee’s deficit down to two.

Another ace from Monroe tied the game at 15-15 before Stephenson managed to take a 23-19 lead thanks to some misplayed balls by Menominee along with an ace by Maddie Vista.

Jocelyn Villas drilled an ace while Monroe recorded another block-kill as the Maroons tied the game at 23-23, but a kill by Hauser set up the game point for the Eagles. However, Stephenson allowed two consecutive balls to squirt out of play, which gave Menominee the game-point opportunity that Haley Bouty and Monroe cashed in on with a tag-team kill, giving the Maroons the 26-24 victory.

Menominee had brooms in hand to start the third set, jumping out to an 8-2 lead before three straight aces courtesy of Hauser pulled the Eagles within two.

Stephenson’s issues keeping the ball in play during the second set plagued Menominee in game four, with two misplayed balls handing the Eagles a 12-10 lead.

The Eagles nursed their two-point advantage until Ava Hummell knocked down a pair of aces to help Stephenson jump out to a 20-13 lead. Vista chipped in another ace to make it a seven-point game before the Maroons’ comeback was aided by two balls smacked out of bounds by the Eagles, which made it a 24-16 game.

comeback ended there, as Monroe’s ensuing serve darted directly into the net, handing the Eagles the 25-16 win.

“I really thought that the girls would be riding high off that comeback in game three, but just the opposite happened. I think the comeback took a lot out of them,” Betzinger said.

The fourth set saw Menominee unable to get the ball over the net, as Maroon errors helped Stephenson build an 11-4 lead.

A block by Cassandra Pawlyk cut Menominee’s deficit to six, but the Eagles reeled off four straight points to take a 15-5 edge.

Menominee’s Faith Herbert digs the ball during the fourth set of Tuesday’s match against Stephenson at the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay, Marinette campus fieldhouse.

Menominee continued to chip away thanks to kills by Monroe and Drifka, but after Magrane served into the net to set up match point for the Eagles, Hauser sneaked the ball over the net with a kill to give Stephenson a 25-13 triumph.

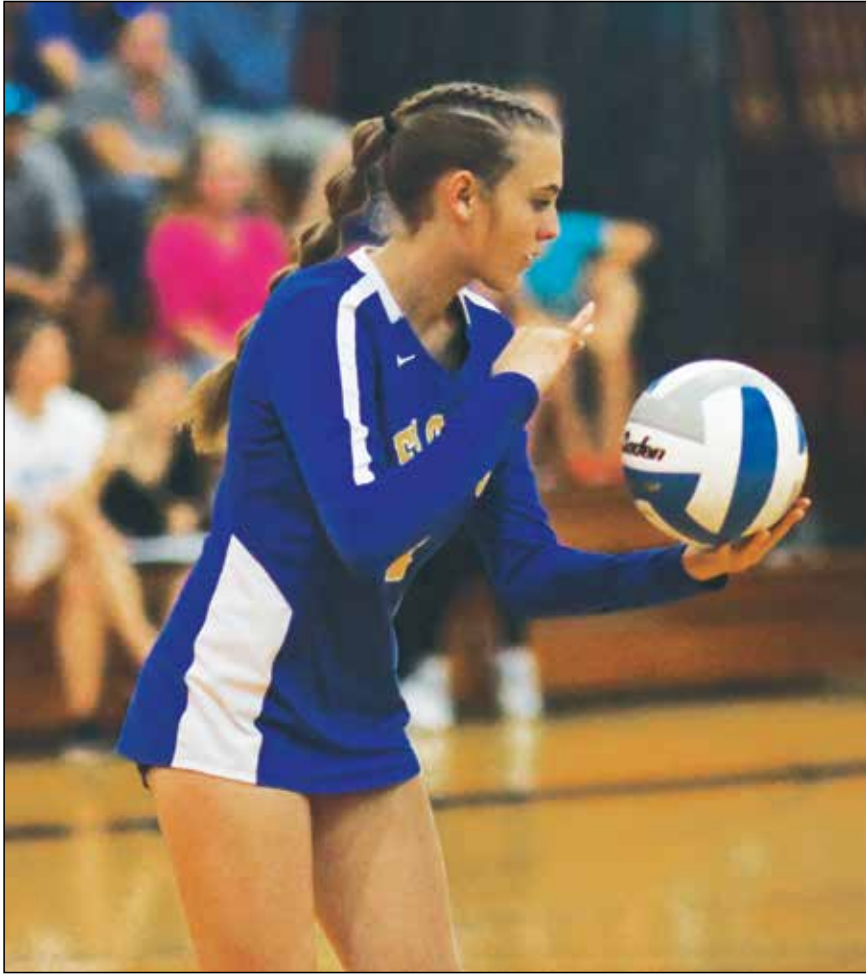

“The first sets, we made a lot of mistakes that we don’t usually make. Mia missed three serves and she’s one of our best servers, so that made a big difference. We managed to eliminate a lot of those errors to build some momentum and we rode that through,” Miller said.

Menominee is back in action Saturday for the “Redette Rumble” in Marquette, with play beginning at 7:30 a.m.

Stephenson was at Forest Park on Thursday, with results unavailable at press time. The Eagles are back at home Tuesday for Parent’s Night against North Dickinson. The JV squad takes the court at 5:30 p.m. with varsity to follow.

Eagles edge Maroons in five-set thriller

MARINETTE—The Menominee girls volleyball team let victory slip through its fingertips in a 3-2 heart-breaking loss to Stephenson at the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay, Marinette campus fieldhouse on Tuesday.

Menominee held a 2-0 advantage but was unable to sustain its hot start, as the Eagles reeled off three straight wins to complete the comeback victory.

The Maroons edged the Eagles in the night's first two games and appeared ready to cruise to a sweep after building in early lead in the third set, but Stephenson managed to rally from a seven-point deficit to starve off elimination.

Stephenson evened out the score with a 25-13 victory in the fourth set, with the Eagles at one point leading by 10 points.

The decisive fifth game was a seesaw affair that saw eight lead changes until Mia Hauser took control for the Eagles, drilling the final two points over the net in emphatic fashion to give Stephenson the 16-14 win.

"The big word for us tonight was 'energy'. We've been dealing with a lot of illness and some banged up players, which has messed with our rotations quite a bit. The girls responded really well. They fought and it was awesome to see," Stephenson coach Jackson

BANAT, Mich.—For the second straight week, the Marinette, Menominee and Stephenson High School cross country teams met in competition. This time Stephenson hosted the action at the Dale Fountain Cross Country Course.

Once again, Menominee's Attica Brandt edged Marinette's Addison Lacy for the individual title, but Lacy's Marines took home the team title.

In the boys competition, Gladstone ran away with the win, while Escanaba edged Marinette for second place.
