MENOMINEE — About 100 people left their footprints on Victory Beach in Menominee Saturday afternoon while they dove headfirst, flopped backward, avoided getting their hair wet and ultimately sprinted toward the water of Green Bay until their legs gave out during Da Yooper Plunge, part of the 13th annual Winterfest celebration.

The 27-degree air was brisk enough to catch a runny nose but not too cold to run into the water. For Ellie Wagnitz, it was the perfect day for a first date. Her suitor, John Slavick, was the last diver and also celebrating his birthday.

“There was a rule change,” announcer Brian Nutter’s voice rang from the speakers piled up on the ice. “If it’s your birthday, you have to do this three times.”

Plunge/from A1

As promised, Slavick dove into the frigid bay and did two more stylistic dips like that of a mid-50s merman.

“He’s that kinda guy,” Wagnitz said, beaming and watching from the shore.

It should come as no surprise that Slavick clutched a trophy for “Most Memorable Plunge” later that day as the same crowd warmed up at Murray’s Irish Pub & Grill, 715 1st St., for the awards ceremony and Da Yooper Chill-y Cook-Off.

The crowd-favorite, Willy’s Chili, also received an award for “Best Traditional Chili.” Robert “Willy” Williquette, who rattled off his slogan earlier while distributing his thick concoction — “You’ve tried the rest, now try the best” — said he’s never won anything like this before.

“I had my mom with me,” Williquette said, getting quiet. “She passed away, and I thought of my mom when I was cooking. I used her ladle.”

The “Fastest Time” trophy for the earliest — and coldest — event at Winterfest, Da Yooper Pooper Toilet Trot, went to the five-time, undefeated Menominee Maroons Football Team, who also won “Top Team Fundraiser” for the DAR Boys & Girls Club at $2,106 raised for the competition.

Winterfest raised money for the DAR and mainly the River Cities Community Pool Association (RCCPA), with Sue Erdman, board member of the RCCPA, taking away the most significant award for “Top Fundraiser” at $1,500 raised by herself.

The RCCPA won “Top Team Fundraiser” for the plunge event, Rick Betzinger won for best spicy chili and the new Pit Bros. Barbeque in Menominee won best restaurant chili. Rocket 88 Music won “Best Costume” for Da Yooper Pooper Toilet Trot, and the City of Peshtigo won “Best Costume” for Da Yooper Plunge, where firefighter Nicole Kempka sprayed the crowd with a mini fire hose, threw off her firefighter regalia and bravely plunged by herself into the freshwater pool, carefully carved out of the ice by an excavator.

About 250 people, including spectators, showed up for the event. Some came dressed in the bold choice of shorts, and one man brought his fat tire electric bike, complete with a life-guard skeleton riding passenger on the back. Rocket 88 Music kicked off the first event as “The Final Countdown” by Europe blared in the background.

The whimsicality was utterly unnecessary, and that was the whole point. Why do we plunge into freezing cold water? It’s something to laugh about — together.

“This was a community event,” said CEO of the DAR, Koren Gardon. “That was our goal 13 years ago.”

People can reach out to River Cities Pool or the DAR to join the planning committee for next year’s Winterfest, which meets every month leading up to the plunge.

Lake Noquebay sampling below state PFAS surface standards

ERIN NOHA
EagleHerald Staff Writer

CRIVITZ — The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources (DNR) found concentrations of less than 1 parts per trillion (ppt) for PFOA and less than 0.2 ppt for PFOS in Lake Noquebay near Crivitz.

The levels found are less than Wisconsin's current surface water standards, which are 90 ppt for PFOA (perfluorooctanoic acid) and 8 ppt for PFOS (perfluorooctane sulfonate), said Alyssa Sellwood, Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources Complex Site Project Manager. The standards protect from PFAS exposure due to incidentally swallowing the water and bioaccumulation in fish, she said.

The DNR collected six surface water samples in November to evaluate per- and polyfluoroalkyl substances (PFAS) concentrations in the lake. The DNR collected fish in Lake Noquebay last year, but the fish tissue samples are still pending analysis, she said.

"Based on the low concentrations of PFOS detected in the surface water samples collected from the lake, we would not expect to find high PFOS concentrations in the fish," she said.

Last January, the DNR released a report saying it found elevated levels of PFOS and PFAS (per- and polyfluoroalkyl substances) in rock bass sampled in the Peshtigo River. As a result, the DNR and Wisconsin Department of Health Services recommended only consuming one meal per week for rock bass from the bay of Green Bay and its associated tributaries up to the first dam, including portions of the Peshtigo,

Police upgrade safety with drones, body cameras

Sheriff and chief update community in response to police brutality

ERIN NOHA
EagleHerald Staff Writer

MENOMINEE — Police brutality on TV and online has prompted local police departments to speak out on training and security they have in place to protect the communities they serve.

The statements come after five police officers were fired and charged with murder in connection to 29-year-old Tyre Nichols' death on Jan. 10 in Memphis, three days after he was beaten during a traffic stop. The video footage from police body cameras and a crime-fighting surveillance camera fixed to a utility pole was released Jan. 27.

The Menominee County Sheriff's Office has had cameras in all its primary road patrol cars for around 18 years, Sheriff Mike Holmes said.

"Officers can say what they want, and a suspect or victim can say what they want. The camera doesn't lie," he said.

They also have body cameras for all officers, including body cameras in the jail. Holmes said that checking the footage can determine the credibility of an inmate's accusations against staff.

"It eliminates questions," he said, referring to the jail footage. "It just records what happens. There's no question on what happened."

Marinette Police Chief Jon LaCombe said his department is getting body cameras within the month after receiving a matching grant, which has been his No. 1 priority since becoming chief. He said that all their squad cars have self-audited and monitored cameras.

"Body cameras are coming, which helps accountability-wise. When people ask for stuff, we can have footage available," LaCombe said.

The body camera videos will present new training topics and pinpoint situations where officers need more support, LaCombe said.

Regarding training, the Menominee County Sheriff's Office stays current with twice-yearly firearm training and yearly legal updates to comply with any laws that may have changed over the year. They also receive training on defensive tactics and defensive driving every other year.

The department has two K-9s and is equipping its office with two drones for which it accepts donations. Holmes said they would use a two-drone infrared system for outside search and rescue and a smaller one for inside tactical operations.

In Marinette, police officers attend several state-certified, department-wide training, said captain Joe Nault.

In training, they combine multiple disciplines into one class, with an instructor representing each specialty, whether it's emergency vehicle driving, high-risk traffic stops or firearms. Each instructor must take a course through the Department of Justice before being qualified to teach on these items, Nault said. If the training uncovers a knowledge gap, they'll extensively cover that topic.

In a nutshell, Nault said that a lot of de-escalation happens because a police officer is around. For example, cars tend to drive slower on a road where a squad car is present.

"80% of potential contacts are diffused by just presence," Nault said. "That's a win-win for everybody."

In the other percentage of cases, talking helps.

"The communication is a big part," Nault said. "If they're on an emotional high, we bring them back down."

After that, Nault said they have to use force if they don't have any other choice involving subject checkups. Education is critical to distinguish what to do in those situations.

"Training is always important to this department," LaCombe said. "Always has been, and always will be."

Marinette County will receive opioid settlement funds

DAN KITKOWSKI
EagleHerald Editor

MARINETTE — Marinette County, as one of the plaintiffs against a dozen pharmaceutical companies, could receive a settlement of nearly $2 million over an 18-year period, County Administrator John Lefebvre, in his monthly report last week, told supervisors that in 2017, the county, as part of the Wisconsin Counties Association, joined a statewide lawsuit against seven pharmaceutical companies for their role in creating the opioid epidemic. He said Marinette County will receive an estimated total of $1.13 million over an 18-year period. He added that five more companies have settled, which could net the county another estimated $850,000 once the board takes action in about two months to join that settlement. The caveat, he said, is that none of those companies go out of business.

Lefebvre said the county is still collecting information on how the funds can be used. "The county departments which have and will be tasked with dealing with the opioid epidemic will have a seat at the table to discuss how the settlement dollars will be spent," he said, adding that whatever plan the county decides on will evolve over the next 18 years.

Lefebvre said he has assigned a Health and Human Services Department official with taking part in the meetings regarding how the funds can be used.

He noted that in 2022, Marinette County already has received $237,667.63 in settlement money. He said the city of Marinette also is involved in the lawsuit.

Also during his report, Lefebvre hoped to silence rumors about the Max E. Peterson Fieldhouse closing its pool. He said the UW Board of Regents is prepared to sign a lease amendment that on July 1 will give Marinette County full control of that property.

Two area women — Ann Dallman of Peshtigo and Mare Hare of Marinette — spoke during public comment about the River Cities Community Pool Association and the pool located at the fieldhouse. Both raved about the pool and the RCCPA. They asked the board keep it open.

Lefebvre said there is no truth to rumors that the fieldhouse is closing. "Any decisions as to what happens to that pool will be made by this board and nobody else," he said, adding that will happen in the months ahead. "I will try to bring to you as many options as we can possibly come up with and work with the other partners. The partners being the YMCA, River Cities Pool, city of Marinette, or anybody else that comes forward and has an interest in utilizing that pool."

Lefebvre said representatives from all parties, including UW-Green Bay, met on Jan. 13. He said the YMCA is still studying the financial aspect of being a part of the facility and the RCCPA is as committed to the public use of the pool now as much as it was in 2009, when it first formed. He said the RCCPA is considering a task force regarding the topic. As for the city of Marinette, Lefebvre said he believes officials are taking a "wait and see" approach, regarding what happens with the other entities.

"Understand, whatever happens with that facility has to come back to this board," Lefebvre said, adding that discussions will continue.

The board also heard reports from Medical Examiner Kalynn Van Ermen and Veterans Service Officer Tom Doyle.

Van Ermen provided statistics from 2022, which included 230 total deaths investigations. That includes 12 suicides, six drug overdoses, six traffic fatalities, with one of those being from Menominee County, one ATV death and one homicide. Her office ordered 17 autopsies, most of which were drug related.

Van Ermen is the primary medical examiner and she has six part-time, deputy medical examiners. She also is the Teen Court coordinator for the county. That program is for first-time, teen juvenile offenders. They are allowed to go through Teen Court, given a sanction (such as community service), and if completed, the charge is removed from their record.

She said the Teen Court had five offenders last in 2022 and has had three cases already this year.

"Teen court is all about having a second chance," Van Ermen said.

Doyle, who has been in his position since 2016, said the county has 3,669 veterans, which is about 9% of the total population of 41,875. Those veterans received $54.8 million in federal veterans dollars last year.

"We do everything from A to Z when it comes to veterans," he said, adding that his office helps veterans with their benefits, paperwork, pensions, health care enrollments and more.

Doyle said he tells veterans that he and his assistant, Holly Gajeski, treat veterans' cases like a business transaction.

"I tell the veterans I'm trying to maximize the amount of money I can bring in for you," he said.

Doyle touted his DAV volunteer transportation program, which gives veterans rides to their appointments at the VA Medical Center in Iron Mountain, Mich.

"If we didn't have volunteers, this program would go away," he said. "They are the life-blood of this program."

He said his crew of drivers now is "hands-down" the best he has had in his six years.

Doyle explained that the transportation program only goes to Iron Mountain, because that VA Center pays for maintenance and gas.

Lake/ from A3

Oconto and Menominee rivers.

The testing of Lake Noquebay also included an upstream sample at the Middle Inlet near Wayside Road and a downstream sample at the Upper Inlet of the Lake Noquebay Wildlife Area dike.

The DNR received an report from JCI/Tyco on Oct. 25 on the status of biosolids testing, which is the sewage sludge that farmers use to fertilize their fields, which may have been affected by Tyco's historic operations.

"JCI/Tyco is responsible for completing a site investigation to evaluate PFAS in and around fields where biosolids from the city of Marinette were previously landspread," according to a press release from the DNR. "Lake Noquebay is in proximity to several of these fields."

Sellwood said the Wisconsin Department of Health Services recommends following these general best practices for interacting with lake water:

- When searching for a spot to swim, choose the clearest water possible without noticeable discoloration or surface scum, foam and algal mats.

- Always shower off after swimming in lakes, rivers and ponds.

- If dogs or other pets swim in discolored or scummy water, rinse them off with fresh, clean water and do not let them lick algae off their fur.

- Keep surface water out of your mouth. Surface water in lakes, rivers and ponds can contain bacteria, parasites, blue-green algae and chemicals from runoff and pollution that can make you sick if you swallow it. Always bring along clean drinking water for yourself, your family and your pets.

Scandal? What scandal?

In our relativistic age in which everyone has his or her own “truth” and none is to be preferred over another so long as the individual feels good about it, why should anything be considered scandalous? If truth is subjective rather than objective, who is to say what is right and what is wrong? And if one does make such a claim, is that not an affirmation that a standard exists by which truth and falsehood, scandalous and honorable behavior can be measured?

CAL

The White House is caught in an ethical bind. On the one hand they claim classified documents found when an FBI warrant was executed at Donald Trump’s Mar-a-Lago resort are scandalous, while simultaneously claiming that classified documents found at President Biden’s home and at in an old office suite are not a big deal because Biden instructed his lawyers to go get them and inform the National Archives.

This is akin to admitting to doing something wrong before you have been discovered. If it is wrong in one instance to keep classified documents after leaving office, then why is it also not wrong in the other instance?

Quoting a source, CBS News has reported: “Representatives for Mr. Biden signed a form outlining the parameters of the search, including which areas in the president’s home could be swept for papers. ... A Justice Department attorney was present at the residence Friday.”

So the one being investigated gets to tell authorities which places can be searched and which are off limits? C’mon, man, as the president likes to say. That will come as a surprise to people who have been awakened by SWAT teams before dawn and treated like criminals while every room in their house is searched. And I’m not just talking about Roger Stone. Too much of this is occurring among far lesser known Americans.

The CBS report continued: “Justice Department officials are also considering the possibility of conducting other consensual searches at locations linked to Mr. Biden, said the source familiar with the investigation.”

Keep in mind the documents were found last November but only this month was the discovery made public. I’m sure the delay had nothing to do with the November election, right?

Appearing on recent talk shows, two Senate Democrats were critical of the president. Sen. Dick Durbin (D-Ill) said the president should be “embarrassed by the situation.” He added that Biden had ceded the moral high ground on an issue that Democrats have been using against former president Trump. Durbin went on to say such discoveries “diminishes the stature of any person in possession of it because it’s not supposed to happen ... the elected official bears ultimate responsibility.”

Sen. Joe Manchin (D-W.Va) said Biden “should have a lot of regrets. ... You just might as well say, ‘Listen, it’s irresponsible.’”

Sounding like the Frank Sinatra song “My Way,” the president has said he has “no regrets,” about the documents, apparently not even too few to mention.

Could this document scandal be the excuse some Democrats are quietly looking and hoping for to persuade Biden not to run for re-election and nominate a younger and more vibrant candidate?

Then we learn a dozen classified documents have been found at former Vice President Mike Pence’s home. Pence’s lawyer immediately alerted the National Archives, who in turn informed the Justice Department. FBI agents have since retrieved the documents.

The top secret documents Trump walked out of the White House with could also be a legal problem for him depending on what the special prosecutor and Attorney General Merrick Garland decide to do. Their problem is that if they move ahead with legal proceedings for one (Trump) they would be hard-pressed to credibly explain to a cynical public why the other (Biden) should get a legal free pass.

In another America where laws were once supposed to be equally enforced (the exception being the rule) and truth was not personal, this would likely not have been a problem.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

LaCourt would be honored to serve as municipal judge

Dear Editor,

Marinette Voters:

My name is John LaCourt, and I am running as a candidate for municipal judge in Marinette. I was born and raised in Marinette, attended UW-La Crosse, and received my bachelor’s degree in Social Studies. After teaching U.S. history and government, I attended UW-Oshkosh and earned my master’s degree in Guidance and Counseling.

In 1976, I was hired as a guidance counselor in the Marinette School District and retired after 26 years. Some of my duties were to work directly with the Marinette Department of Social Services in making necessary home visits with various social workers to ensure the success of the students whom I served. I had frequent meetings with students’ parents regarding their academic and social progress.

Being a successful municipal judge requires a person to be fair, respectful of individuals who appear in court, accord them due process, and make a decision based on the facts. My experience as a teacher and counselor demonstrates that I have the qualities to serve as the municipal judge in Marinette.

Involvement in a range of community organizations have provided me with a unique insight into the functions of the city. I have been an active member in the Marinette Elks since 1979, and since retiring have been an active member of the Marinette Recreation Board and the Senior Citizens’ Board for six years. For 18, I have been a member of the Marinette School Board and presently serve as president.

I read with interest my opponent’s letter to the editor in the Peshtigo Times of Jan. 25 and the EagleHerald of Jan. 30. His statement that I am not an attorney and have no experience as a judge is true. However, to be fully transparent, my opponent should have stated that he is not an attorney (to my knowledge), and when he ran three years ago, he had no experience. He should have also reminded voters that in Wisconsin, a municipal judge does not have to possess a law degree to successfully serve.

As a candidate, I received information from the Office of Judicial Education requiring new judges to attend a seminar in May, and I am prepared to do so. I have also received a Judicial Ethics Resource Packet for municipal judges and am thoroughly reviewing these materials. I am confident that I can understand and master the material and perform the duties of municipal judge as well or better than my opponent.

I would be honored to serve as Marinette’s Municipal Judge should you decide to vote for me April 4.

Medicare Advantage a life-changing plan

Dear Editor,

A government program that works.

The last few years have been tough for all of us. I have had many health complications and scares including spinal and heart operations. Through it all, I’ve been able to count on my Medicare Advantage plan to cover my needs, all while staying affordable.

Not only does Medicare Advantage positively affect my health, but it also boosts my wallet through its commitment to cost savings. Affordability is one of the most important things in life. Especially when we get older and live on a fixed income, we must have health care coverage we can rely on to be comprehensive yet doesn’t break the bank. Despite my various health issues, my premium did not go up at all. In fact, overall Medicare Advantage 2023 premiums have dropped another 8%. This is truly life-changing for people like me living on a fixed income.

Although the last few years have been complicated, I’m grateful for programs and services such as Medicare Advantage that are benefiting lives like my own. This is one program more Americans should take advantage of.

JAMES "JIM" K. WACHAL

James 'Jim' K. Wachal, 88, of Menominee, MI passed away at home surrounded by his family on February 1, 2023. Jim was born on January 19, 1935, in Menominee, MI, to Joseph and Doris (Krummel) Wachal. He graduated from Menominee High School in 1953, followed by Barber College in Green Bay. He married Sharon Lee Marie Gillaume from Green Bay on February 11, 1956.

He was a member of the National Guard. Jim was an entrepreneur his entire life, with his wife by his side. His early endeavors include Jim's Barber Shop, Marinette, and the acquisition of Allard News Agency, Marinette. He took great pride in owning and operating Lakeview Mobile Home Park in Kewaunee, WI, for many years. Other businesses included a water bed store and a laundromat.

Later in life, he recognized the potential of a truly niche product, "Jiffy Seat", a collapsible, folding chair used primarily by attendees of air shows. Sales came natural to Jim, and he loved the banter and challenge. The business included the manufacture of the seats from raw materials, with sales each year at the EAA air show in Oshkosh, and another in Lakeland, FL, which was followed by an extended vacation at Suncoast RV Resort, Port Richie. Many lasting friendships were formed and it became an annual reunion. He couldn't have been closer to his two brothers, and they meant the world to him, all three living within a mile or two of each other. During his life, Jim, with his brothers and past generations built multiple homes for the families. He enjoyed deer hunting, golf, tennis, snowmobiling, and summers spent camping and fishing on Peavy Pond.

Jim is survived by the love of his life, Sharon; his daughters: Laurel (Doug) Schwartz, Cross Plains, WI, and Lynn (Bill) Kakuk, Menominee, MI; his grandchildren: Courtney Schwartz, Graydon Schwartz, Cyler (Nicole Thompson) Nordquist, Madison (Wes Walters) Kakuk; and his great-granddaughters: Alicia Nordquist, and Anastasia Dziekonski. He is also survived by his younger brother, Robert (Judy) Wachal, Menominee; and nieces and nephews: Kathy Seymour, Rick (Judy) Wachal, Don (Jessica) Wachal, and Deb (Derek) Butler as well as cousins, great nieces & nephews, neighbors and friends.

He was preceded in death by his parents Joe and Doris; and his older brother, Richard 'Dick' Wachal; his sister-in-law, Claudette Wachal; and his nephew, Rich Seymour.

Dad asked us to recognize and thank his brother, Bob, for his love and for always being there over the years. The family would also like to thank Hospice UP Health System Homecare, especially Katie, Amy, Diana, Barb, and Lynn. We don't know what we would have done, had it not been for their amazing support and care in fulfilling dad's desire to remain at home.

Per his wishes, there will be no services or visitation. HANSEN-ONION-MARTELL FUNERAL HOME is assisting the family.

DEAR ABBY

Dad must endure entitled teen's frequent tantrums

JEANNE PHILLIPS

Dear Abby: I'm writing on behalf of my partner of 10 years. He has three daughters ages 23, 20 and 16. While he's close to two of them, his youngest distances herself when she doesn't get what she wants.

Eight months ago, she stopped talking to him because he badmouthed a boy band she likes. He said they weren't worth the money when she asked him to buy her a ticket to their concert. He was going to appease her, but her reaction was so strong, she didn't give him a chance to let her know he was going to buy the ticket anyway.

He tried making contact with her several times when this happened, but she ignored his calls and messages. Now that her birthday is coming up, however, she had her older sister send her wish list to him via a text message. Should he buy gifts for a child who has ignored him for a year? — Gifts or No Gifts

Dear G.O.N.G.: If your partner's daughter wants something from Dad for her birthday, she should ask him directly and not telegraph the message through her sister. Your partner should do what he wants to do about her behavior. You and I know how we would handle this, but we are not him and we are not emotionally involved. Stay out of the line of fire.

Dear Abby: With no warning, my mother-in-law packed up and left my father-in-law. From what she tells me, he was verbally and emotionally abusive. My father-in-law is remarrying. He met his fiancée shortly after my MIL left.

I don't think I mind that he's getting remarried, but I do mind that no one has told my husband's mother. FIL won't tell her, and my husband won't either. She has said she "doesn't want to know anything" that's going on with my FIL. Not only does she not know, but neither does my husband's brother. My brother-in-law despises his father.

My husband's family will be attending the wedding. I have immense guilt about going. I feel like I'm betraying my MIL, with whom I have a good relationship. My husband wants me to attend because he needs the support. If I had it my way, I wouldn't go. I've never had a great relationship with my FIL, and he doesn't appear to have changed, even though he's with someone new. Any advice? — In a Tough Spot in Iowa

Dear Tough Spot: Your mother-in-law made clear that she doesn't want to know what's going on with your father-in-law, so keep your mouth shut. Because your husband says he needs your support on that occasion, go with him and offer "good wishes" to the happy couple. (From what you have written, they are going to need them.) When your husband's mother finds out about the marriage — and, of course, she will — remind her that she told you she didn't want to be kept informed, so you respected her wishes.

Contact Dear Abby at www.DearAbby.com or P.O. Box 69440, Los Angeles, CA 90069.

HUBZone training planned for Marinette County businesses

New designation can help companies compete for federal contracts

MADISON, Wis. — Entrepreneurs in Jackson and Marinette counties are invited to attend two free informational sessions this week to learn how their county's designation as a HUBZone or Historically Underutilized Business Zone can help their business grow.

The Marinette County session will take place from 10 a.m. to noon Thursday at the Marinette County Courthouse, 1926 Hall Ave., Marinette. People can register at https://www.wispro.org/ "The sessions are a good way to learn how this designation, awarded by the federal Small Business Administration, can give companies an advantage when competing for federal contracts," said Missy Hughes, secretary and CEO of the Wisconsin Economic Development Corporation (WEDC).

The information sessions are hosted by WEDC, the Wisconsin Procurement Institute (WPI), the Small Business Administration (SBA), Marinette County Economic Development and other partners.

To qualify for the HUBZone program, a business meet the SBA definition of a small business, and must be at least 51% owned by U.S. citizens or be a Community Development Corporation, an agricultural cooperative or a tribal enterprise. Eligible businesses must also have their principal office located in a HUBZone and at least 35% of the business' employees must live in a zone, in this case Marinette or Jackson counties.

Taking part in the program allows businesses to compete for contracts set aside for HUBZone businesses as well as gives preferential treatment to zone businesses bidding on other federal contracts.

The Snowy Owl

Like a ghost, the snowy owl glides through the air in soundless flight. This owl is different from most owls because it hunts during the day and at night. Most owls hunt at night. In the arctic region, the summer days and nights are always light. An owl waiting for darkness to hunt would starve before the dark days of winter arrive.

Connect the dots to draw a snowy owl in flight.

How big is a snowy owl?

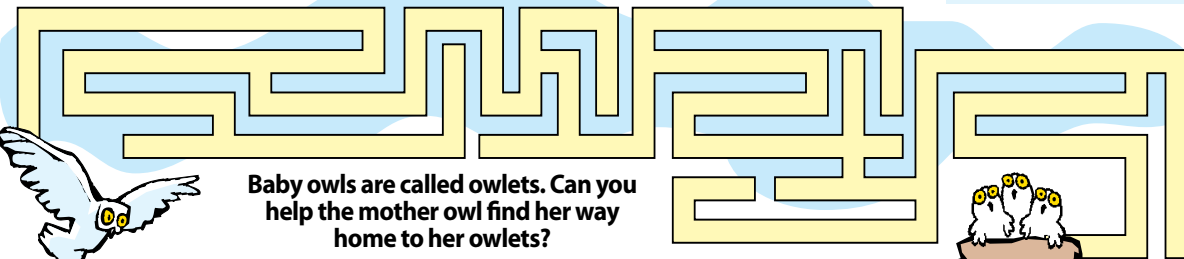

The snowy owl is one of the largest owls, with a height of about 27 inches (69 cm) and a wingspan of up to 60 inches (152 cm). Wingspan is the measurement from wing tip to wing tip, when the wings are fully stretched.

How many of the things in this chart could fit into a snowy owl's wingspan?

Microwave oven	25 inches (63.5 cm)
Teacher's desk	40 inches (102 cm)
House cat	25 inches (63.5 cm)
Baseball bat	33 inches (84 cm)
Tennis Racket	27 inches (69 cm)
Small car (width)	67 inches (170 cm)

Measure 60 inches (152 cm) on the floor. Now lie down with your arms outstretched along the line. Measure your outstretched arms. How do you compare?

Standards Link: Measurement: Students compare the length of objects by using direct comparison of standard units.

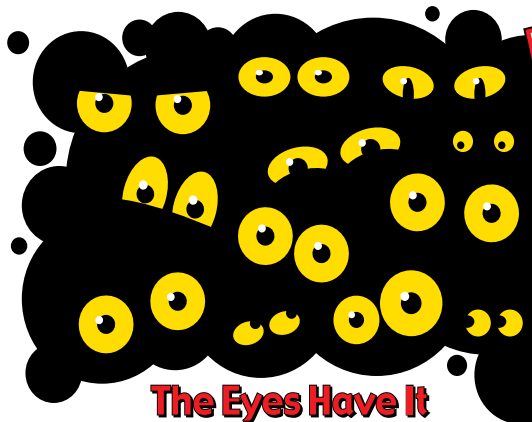

Baby owls are called owlets. Can you help the mother owl find her way home to her owlets?

Owl Eyes

All owls have excellent sight so that they can spot creatures like mice that run fast along the ground. Owls' eyes are not the same as human eyes. We move our eyes in their sockets to see from side to side. The owl must turn his head to see in different directions. Owls also have a third eyelid, which protects the eye.

It is a milky white eyelid that comes up from the bottom of the eye. Its purpose is to clean and refresh the owl's eyes. This third eyelid is called a nictitating membrane.

Standards Link: Life Science: Adaptations in physical structures improve an animal's chance for survival.

The Eyes Have It

The snowy owl has round, yellow eyes. Can you find the pair of eyes that match?

Standard Links: Visual Discrimination: Students compare and sort common objects.

Extra! Extra! Count the Eyes

Look through the newspaper and count the number of eyes that you find. How many are human eyes? How many are the eyes of other animals?

Standards Link: Number Sense: Count and name a number of objects.

Kid Scoop FIT & FUN

Try these exercises to have fun and exercise the owl way!

Fly like an owl.

Stretch your arms wide apart and swoop around outdoors.

Perch like an owl.

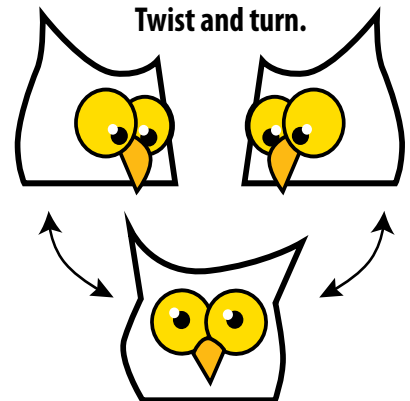

Squat down like you are sitting on a tree branch watching for mice on the ground. Fold your arms into wings with your thumbs in your armpits. How long can you stay in this position?

Hop like an owl.

Start in the perch position. Then hop to the right, hop to the left, hop forward, hop backward.

Twist and turn.

While sitting in the perched position, turn your head as far to the right as you can. Then turn your head as far left as possible.

Animal Report

Write a paragraph reporting on your favorite animal. Include at least three facts about this animal.

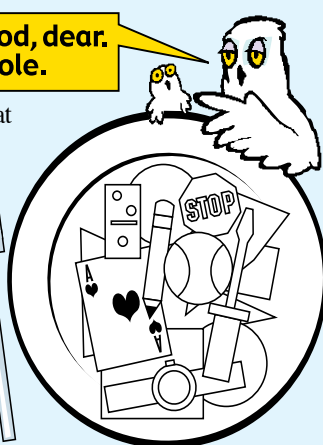

Kid Scoop Puzzler

Don't chew your food, dear. Swallow it whole.

The snowy owls need to eat a huge amount each day—enough to equal their own body weight. They don't chew their food—they just swallow their prey whole, including fur, claws, teeth and bones. Then they spit out a pellet of all the parts they can't digest.

What silly things can you find on this owl's dinner plate?

Standards Link: Life Science: Animals need food for survival and have physical structures to help them survive.

Ayton shines as Suns soar past Pistons

LARRY LAGE
Associated Press

DETROIT — Deandre Ayton had 31 points and 16 rebounds to help the Phoenix Suns beat the Detroit Pistons 116-100 on Saturday night.

The surging Suns have won eight of 10 games, including a victory at Boston on Friday night, and have help on the way with Devin Booker nearing his return. The three-time All-Star guard has been out since Christmas with a groin injury, but dunked in warmups in another sign that he's close to coming back.

"I wouldn't read too much into it," said Suns coach Monty Williams, who didn't want to speculate on the chances Booker will play Tuesday night at Brooklyn.

Phoenix started each half strong, leading 13-3 in the opening minutes and scoring the first eight points after half-time, to take and keep control against Detroit.

"It was huge because they set the tone," Pistons coach Dwane Casey said.

Chris Paul had 14 assists for the Suns' balanced offense that didn't need him to make shots, finishing 0 for 7 and without a field goal for the first time since March 18, 2017, when he helped the Los Angeles Clippers beat Cleveland by 30 points.

"It's a great lesson that you don't have to score to have an impact on the game," Casey said.

Mikal Bridges scored 24 points, Cameron Johnson had 20 points and Torrey Craig added 14 points for Phoenix.

"You don't win eight out of 10 without moving in a good direction, but satisfied is probably not a word that I would ever use," Williams said.

Johnson had a knee injury in November and has been working his way back into game shape since returning to the lineup two weeks ago.

"When he's knocking down

Phoenix Suns center Deandre Ayton (22) shoots on Detroit Pistons forward Bojan Bogdanovic (44) in the first half in Detroit on Saturday.

shots, it just gives everyone more room to operate," Williams said.

Bojan Bogdanovic scored

23 points for the Pistons, who are vying with Houston to have the No. 1 pick in the NBA draft and a shot to select 7-foot-3

French phenom Victor Wembanyama.

Detroit reserve Saddiq Bey had 25 points, Isaiah

Stewart had 17 points and nine rebounds while rookie Jaden Ivey added 13 points and six assists.

Like Phoenix, the Pistons were coming off a win and playing on consecutive days.

"When you think you're tired, you make mental mistakes and it turns into physical mistakes," Casey said.

STUNG BY SNUB

Williams is bothered that Booker, who he called one of the world's best players, was not selected to play in the All-Star Game.

"The fact that the fans have that much input on it doesn't make sense," Williams said. "He's the best two-guard in the league."

TIP-INS

Suns: Incoming team owner Mat Ishbia, who lives in suburban Detroit, was courtside in his usual seats near the visitors' bench at Little Caesars Arena with his three children wearing Suns gear. The former Michigan State walk-on guard agreed to purchase the Suns and Phoenix Mercury for $4 billion in December, and sale is still in the process of being completed.

"He stuck his neck out to buy our ballclub and we're happy to have a leader like that," Williams said.

Pistons: Stewart missed all five of his 3-pointers in the first half, extending his streak without a make beyond the arc to 18 shots over seven-plus games. The power forward made all three of his 3-point attempts in the third quarter to end the drought.

"When we got opportunities to shoot 3s, we have to shoot them," Stewart said. "It's frustrating because in practice, I hit like 10 in a row. Hopefully, this is a start of a great run for me."

from A19 that, had enough defense, particularly in the fourth quarter, to grind out a win tonight."

Antetokounmpo had 26 points, 14 rebounds and 11 assists in a victory at Minnesota on Nov. 4. He had 30 points, 21 and 10 assists in an overtime win at Toronto on Jan. 4.

The two-time MVP's latest triple-double came two nights after he scored 54 points in a 106-105 victory over the Los Angeles Clippers. During the Bucks' winning streak, Antetokounmpo is averaging 39.4 points, 14.7 rebounds and 5.0 assists.

Khris Middleton scored a season-high 24 points and put the Bucks ahead for good with a tiebreaking buzzer beater to end the third quarter. Grayson Allen added 19, Jrue Holiday 15 and Pat Connaughton 14.

"They're a great team, so they're going to find ways to change the rhythm of the game, change the pace a little bit, figure out a way to get back in the game," Middleton said. "They did.... We were just able to sustain the things we were doing and not let their changes affect us as much."

The Bucks gained a measure of revenge after losing consecutive games in Miami on Jan. 12 and 14. Antetokounmpo didn't play in either of those games.

Miami's Gabe Vincent had a career-high 28 points in one of the Heat's victories over the Bucks and 27 in the other. Vincent had just seven points Saturday while shooting 3 of 9.

The loss completed a 1-3 road swing for the Heat.

"We definitely have to go home disappointed," Heat coach Erik Spoelstra said. "You have to maximize every opportunity when you're on a road trip like this. It's hard to win on the road. We'll gather ourselves."

TIP-INS

Heat: This game represented a homecoming for Herro, who had his jersey retired Friday night at nearby Whitnall High School in Greenfield. Herro's Heat teammates and Spoelstra attended the ceremony. Earlier this season, they attended a similar ceremony when Heat veteran Udonis Haslem got his jersey retired at Miami High. "The guys really do care about each other and want to support each other," Spoelstra said before the game. "You also love seeing guys back in their old environment."

Bucks: Now that they've finished a four-game homestand, the Bucks are about to begin a demanding stretch of their schedule. They go on a three-game West Coast trip before returning home to face the Eastern Conference-leading Boston Celtics on Feb. 14.

Coduti drilled a 3-pointer of his own to put Menominee on top 60-59 with 52 seconds left to play.

A layup from Beal pushed the Maroons lead up to three with less than 30 seconds to go before a pair of free throws by Jaxon Jurmu got Marquette within one.

Butler hit a free throw to make it a two-point game, but Jurmu hit a clutch jumper with two seconds on the clock to knot up the score 63-63 at the end of regulation.

"I'm proud of our guys and the fact that, despite digging ourselves a couple of holes, we had enough fight in us to claw our way back out of it. I'm proud that they showed the grit to keep fighting," Menominee coach Sam Larson said. "When you think about a triple overtime game and the amount of possessions each team had, there were a ton of great things that we did on that run in order to get back, but there were an equal number of bad things that did not allow us to win."

Jack Quinnell gave the Redmen the lead to kick off the first overtime before a triple from Theuerkauf lifted the Maroons to a one-point lead. Tanner Theuerkauf tacked on a layup to make it a 68-65 game, but Menominee was unable to put Marquette away, with a 3-pointer off Kyle Sager's fingertips tied the game at 73-73 with 5.2 seconds on the clock.

The game appeared to be Marquette's to lose in the second overtime period after a third-chance bucket from Jacob MacPhee gave the Redmen the lead and a free throw from Jurmu made it a three-point affair.

As he did all game long, Trevor Theuerkauf came through when Menominee needed him, sinking three free throws after being fouled on a 3-point attempt to once again tie the game at 78-78.

Trevor Theuerkauf led Menominee in scoring with 30 points and drew praise from Larson for his performance after the game.

"Every drop of energy that he had was left on the floor tonight. Trevor just doesn't have an off switch, he just goes," he said. "He's our vocal leader, he's our leader on the court and he's the guy that's capable of taking and making those tough shots, which you saw over and over again. I think he did a ton of great things tonight."

Menominee grabbed the lead to start the third overtime thanks to a jumper from Trevor Theuerkauf, but a bucket from Jurmu knotted matters up at 80-80 before MacPhee gave Marquette the lead for good off a second-chance basket.

"We are not tough enough to control the boards yet. We are undersized, so we already have a slanted slope against us, but we have to find a way to be nastier so that we don't get outrebounded," Larson said. "Down the stretch, there were crucial offensive rebounds that Marquette got that allowed them to jump back up by three. If we can control that board, they have to foul us and we walk out of here with a win, but we are not a point yet where we are able to get those rebounds."

Marquette pushed their lead up to seven before Coduti sank a triple with 14.1 on the clock to make it an 87-83 game, but Jurmu tacked on a pair of insurance free throws with 10.2 seconds to play to seal the victory for the Redmen.

"We had so many errors in the overtime periods at not getting into our sets, or messing up a baseline inbounds coverage, or turning the ball over. There's a ton of things that we can nitpick, and we will, because we want to grow and get better from this," Larson said.

Friday's showdown began with Menominee jumping out to a two-point lead before a 3-pointer by Sager put Marquette on top 5-4. Trevor Theuerkauf countered with a trey of his own to put Menominee back on top by two, while buckets from Tanner Theuerkauf and Beal pushed the Maroons ahead 11-5.

EAGLEHERALD/MATT LEHMANN

Menominee's Eli Beal slings a pass during the first quarter of the Maroons Great Northern Conference game against Marquette, Friday at the Max E. Peterson Fieldhouse in Marinette.

The Redmen chipped away to tie the game at 14-14 thanks to a second chance bucket by Easton Clements before MacPhee tipped in back-to-back second-chance baskets, giving Marquette a 18-14 lead at the end of the first quarter.

Marquette blew the game open with a big second quarter, outscoring Menominee by 11 thanks to a pair of 3-pointers from Sager and buckets from MacPhee, Quinnell and Jan van den Ende to seize a 37-22 halftime advantage.

Jurmu was Marquette's leading scorer with 24 points. MacPhee and Sager both contributed 16.

Coduti finished with 16 points for Menominee. Beal was close behind with 15 while Butler finished with nine.

Throughout Friday's game, donations were collected for the Weaver family of Escanaba, who experienced a tremendous tragedy on January 31. A total of $1,500 was raised, with all proceeds going to the Weaver family children.

Mikala Gorham and Schar teamed up to pour in five points as the Lady Vikes pulled within seven late, but Smalls stepped up to the foul line and sank a bonus free throw to ice the game for Peshtigo with 10.1 seconds to play.

"I'm really proud with how the team played. They missed some shots and had some turnovers, but they didn't let it affect them or throw them off for the entire game," Villas said. "We got some big rebounds when we had to and were able to get over the hump and pick up a win."

Bad habits catch up to Marine girls in loss to Wrightstown

WRIGHTSTOWN, Wis. — Amid a breakout season for the Marinette girls basketball team, a familiar trend has developed.

The Marines, always stout on defense, will start slow offensively before catching fire in the first half to secure a victory. That script has helped Marinette rack up 14 wins so far this year.

On Friday however, the Wrightstown Tigers refused to follow the script in a 62-53 victory over the Marines in Friday's North Eastern Conference showdown.

Wrightstown's win gives the Tigers a season split with the Marines, who took down the Tigers for the first time ever earlier in the year.

With three games left in the regular season, the Marines sit at 10-5 in the NEC and 14-7 overall. Wrightstown also sports a 10-5 conference mark and is 13-7 overall.

While Marinette once again got off to a slow start before coming alive in the second half, Wrightstown was able to capitalize on 26 first half turnovers by the Marines to build a 28-14 lead at halftime.

Riley Kieffer scored six of her team-high 19 points in the first half while Bry Torkko added four of her own, but the Tigers otherwise held Marinette in check, with Kaya Bodam and Olivia Hanson the only other Marines able to put the ball through the hoop.

"We got off to another slow start, but the difference was that we played a very talented team that was able to take advantage of our mistakes," Marinette coach Zac Barker said. "Wrightstown made us pay on a lot of the little things that we were able to overcome the past few games. We had way too many turnovers in the first half."

Marinette outscored the Tigers by five after halftime as Kieffer drilled a trio of 3-pointers while Chloe Seymour erupted for nine points, but 15 points from Danielle Bruecker helped Wrightstown fend off the Marines' comeback bid.

"We had a much better second half. The players got together at halftime, talked to each other and got on the same page and it showed," Barker said. "We made some good adjustment and were able to turn our defense into offense much better than we did in the first half. Riley, Bry, Chloe, Kaya and Rylee (Hansen) all stepped up and played very well offensively in the second half."

Torkko finished with 10 points while Seymour was hot on her heels with a nine-point outing. Bodam added seven, Hansen tacked on four, and Addy Pristelski and Hanson both chipped in two.

Bruecker led all scorers with 25 points. Jordan Vickman contributed 11 points to the Tigers' cause.

Marinette's focus now shifts to the penultimate home game of the regular season, as the Marines host Denmark on Tuesday in a rematch of the two team's January 3 skirmish that saw the Vikings (6-9 NEC, 8-12 overall) come out on top 51-44.

"I told the girls that it doesn't matter what our records are, Denmark beat us head-to-head, which means they're the better team until we beat them," Barker surmised. "We're a tough matchup for them because we have a lot of guards and our bigs can put the ball on the floor and dribble, but Denmark can't be overlooked. We're back to be underestimated, which is the role that we excel in."

Tuesday's game will tip off at 7 p.m.

MILWAUKEE — Giannis Antetokounmpo had a triple-double with 35 points, 15 rebounds and 11 assists and the Milwaukee Bucks beat the short-handed Miami Heat 123-115 on Saturday night for their seventh straight victory.

"You kind of know what to expect from the Miami team," Antetokounmpo said. "We've played them so many times. I've played them so many times throughout my years. They're going to help one another. They're going to be aggressive on defense. You've just got to make the right pass, just keep on being aggressive and making as many good decisions as you can throughout the game."

Jimmy Butler scored 32 points and Tyler Herro added 24 for the Heat, who had just nine available players. Notable injured Miami players included Kyle Lowry (sore left knee) and Victor Oladipo (sprained right ankle).

Antetokounmpo had his third triple-double of the season and 32nd of his career. The 11 assists matched his season high.

"We know that Miami's going to throw a lot of people at him, a lot of bodies," Bucks coach Mike Budenholzer said. "He's got to be willing to pass and play with his teammates, and we've got to make shots. I think he did that. It starts with him being aggressive, him drawing extra defenders. His teammates have got to make plays around him. We did enough of PESHTIGO — The Peshtigo girls basketball team continued to surge through the second half of the season after edging Gibraltar 46-38 in Packerland Conference action on Saturday.

Peshtigo started the season 4-5, but since the calendar flipped to 2023, the Bulldogs have gone 8-1 over their past nine games.

Saturday's victory over the Lady Vikings was the Bulldogs eighth in a row. Peshtigo currently sits at 12-6 overall and are 10-2 in the Packerland.

"I can't say enough about how this group has come together. We were 2-5 at one point early in the season and now to be sitting at 12-6 is very impressive," Peshtigo coach Pete Villas said. "We're playing good basketball and we're playing as a team, which is what matters."

The first half was a nip-and-tuck battle early as each team traded buckets before the Bulldogs were able to build a five-point cushion behind a personal 5-0 run by Rylie Ellie.

Akira Smalls and Betsy Lecy exchanged 3-pointers before a mid-range jumper by Andie Schar cut Gibraltar's deficit down to three.

Jaci Tonn battled through contact for a layup while Ellie and Smalls tacked on three free throws to give Peshtigo a 21-13 lead at half-time.

The second half could not have started worse for the Bulldogs, as Allison Peters went down minutes into the half with an ankle injury and would not return.

With Tonn sliding into Peters' role of defensive anchor, Brooklyn Phillips stepped up and poured in the first 10 points for the Bulldogs to make it a 31-19 game.

"We lost Allison early in the second half, and she's a huge player for us. I thought that the girls adjusted well. Jaci stepped up and slid inside the zone, which she hadn't done all season, and said 'I can handle it', which helped us out," Villas said. "We were struggling offensively and Brooklyn hit two big 3s and had some nice putbacks. She missed a couple of easy ones but she forgot about it, bounced back and played hard."

The Lady Vikes (1-11 Packerland, 2-16 overall) clawed back into the game, cutting Peshtigo's lead down to six before Tonn drilled

MARINETTE — On February 4, 2022, the Menominee and Marquette boys basketball teams clashed in a triple overtime thriller won by the Maroons in a contest that was hailed as the Game of the Year

Nearly a year to the day, the two teams did it all over again, but this time it was the Redmen coming out on top with an 89-83 triumph in another 3OT instant classic at the Max E. Peterson Fieldhouse on Friday.

Things appeared dire for the Maroons in the second half, with Menominee down by 23 points with 2:44 left to play in the third quarter.

Suddenly, a Menominee offense that struggled to get the lid off the basket could not miss, with Trevor Theuerkauf dropping six points while Eli Beal and Darrent Butler both knocked down 3-pointers to help the
