

Former editor Marik dies

Mary Marik, stalwart contributor, proofreader, and former editor of the Washington Island Observer died Dec. 27, 2021, in her home in Chicago.

Marik’s continued help and influence was instrumental in developing the Observer into the Wisconsin

Newspaper Association and state-recognized official paper it is today.

The Observer is planning on further tributes. If you have any memory you would like to share, please send to editor@washingtonislandobserver.com